'Peg Wins Grey Cup in Thriller

START OF TOUCHDOWN PASS

Quarterback Bernie Faloney of Hamilton Tiger-Cats cocks arm to throw touchdown pass to Paul Dekker in opening minutes of today's Grey Cup football classic in Toronto. Dekker galloped 90 yards for major. Don Sutherin kicked the extra point giving Ti-Cats 7-0 lead over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

AIR SEARCH LAUNCHED FOR UN CONGO PLANE

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—The United Nations today announced a 14-plane air search for a missing Swedish Transair charter plane overdue at Luluabourg Airport since Friday.

The UN-charter C-46 aircraft carried three Swedish crew members and one passenger, a Swedish major.

Missing UN Officer Captive in Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Latest reports indicate an Indian major missing for nearly four days is alive and being held near here, a United Nations spokesman said today.

George Ivan Smith, acting chief UN representative in this Katanga province capital, said a reliable source had given the UN information on Maj. Arjeet Singh, missing since Tuesday.

The search for Maj. Singh, serving with the Indian UN detachment, began when his Indian driver was found dead Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, tension lessened in Elisabethville. More people appeared in streets and bars and UN troop movements were back to normal.

However, UN sources said UN troops have been told not to go into the city at night unless they travel armed and in groups of four.

Fierce Fight In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—A battle between riot police and a large mob of Europeans broke out Friday night in the town of Rulba, about 25 miles from Algiers, residents reported today.

The brawlers were reported engaged in fist fights, plastic bombings and setting fires. Police fired over the heads of the mob and threw tear gas grenades into it.

There were no reports of casualties.

SPACE HOP PREDICTED FOR DEC. 20

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rep. Victor L. Anfuso, a ranking member of the House committee on science and aeronautics, predicted today the United States will try to orbit a man around the earth on Dec. 20.

The New York Democrat made the prediction on a local television program (CBS-New York Forum) taped Thursday for broadcast today.

Anfuso said his information was based on preliminary results of the orbital trip made by Enos the chimp last Wednesday.

FOR BERLIN

Reds Reject Kennedy Plan

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany today published a rejection of President Kennedy's suggestion for an international administration of the 110-mile highway lifeline between this city and the West.

The rejection came from East Germany's top spokesman, Walter Ulbricht, chief of state and Communist party leader, who spoke Friday night at a party district meeting in East Berlin.

An account of what he said was carried today by ADN, official East German news agency.

In his interview with Alexei Adzhabel, editor of the Soviet paper Izvestia, Kennedy suggested a key point in any future negotiations with the autobahn to guarantee free movement of goods and persons.

The autobahn between West Germany and Berlin belongs to East Germany, said Ulbricht.

If the Western powers thought they could prepare international control by sending U.S. troops on training missions along the highway, "our answer is clear," said Ulbricht.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Rumors are current that Saanich may have a German-style open-air beer garden if the population votes in favor of beer parlors in next Thursday's plebiscite.

A local businessman is known to be interested in starting a beer garden. But even if Saanich votes for beer parlors, he will still have to get the B.C. Liquor Act amended to permit outdoor drinking.

Rex Covey, who took over Nov. 1 as manager of the flossy new Imperial Motor Hotel, ended his tenure Monday after 27 days in office.

New incumbent is Edward G. Taylor, former office manager and comptroller of the company.

"Do you believe in what you have just told us?"

This question from a Victoria College student cracked like a pistol shot through a meeting of the Current Affairs Council of Greater Victoria Thursday night and raised a few eyebrows.

It was addressed to the guest speaker—Hayden Raynor, United States consul-general in Vancouver.

"I certainly do believe what I have said," answered Mr. Raynor.

Outside the meeting the student apologized to Mr. Raynor.

"I did not mean to be impertinent," he said. "I just wondered if you were expressing your own views or those of your government."

"I was speaking for myself and my government," Mr. Raynor answered with a smile.

"Thank you, sir," the student said.

Tickets were sold out two days in advance for Victoria College's faculty production of "Othello," a trail-blazing presentation of the Shakespeare play for freshmen by their professors.

"It's the first time I've ever done a play whose entire run was sold out in advance," says Dr. C. L. Lamberton of the college's English department, director of the play.

So many students, both first year and upper classmen, wanted to see the play that it opened one night early on Wednesday evening.

Tail end of a woman's conversation overheard in an Oak Bay drugstore:

"... but what really gets me is that when you tell people you're coming here to live, they all smile and say, 'Oh, aren't you lucky!'"

Wednesday's Roundabout poked a finger at the statement in the government's "11 Steps to Survival" which said that victims near an atomic blast would be seriously affected by radiation as well as being killed.

It wasn't long before Commodore V. S. Godfrey gave us a ring to let us know that in the second edition of the pamphlet the wording was rearranged.

This, no doubt, will bring comfort for the victim who faces serious radiation or certain death, but not both.

Perhaps it's no coincidence two of the seven lecturers who contributed to recent series on "Arts Enter the Home" at the Art Gallery have been medical doctors.

Natural interest was explained by Dr. John Parnell, Vancouver, speaking on "Collections of Paintings and Objects of Art" on Wednesday evening.

Said the media: "It's not at all surprising—after all, collecting is a disease with an active bug and no antibiotic."

"Be Prepared" is the Boy Scout's motto.

This helpful attitude also seems to carry over into the Men's Club activities.

At a recent club meeting there were three speakers: the first on how to be a good host; the second on the preparation and serving of cocktails; and the third on how to help in the kitchen with the Christmas dinner.

Next thing we'll hear is that YMCA stands for Young Men's Culinary Association.

Tourist commissioner Bill Hawkins is taking off for a holiday Dec. 9—10 in Honolulu. While there, Bill will study operations of the Hawaiian Visitors' Bureau, which attracts a business of something like $130 million annually. At the first of the year, directors hope to present him with a new assistant. The man they have their eye on is Mike Heppell of Black Ball.

Michael Rose lost his bristly Victorian moustache while playing Jasper Featherways in the Noel Coward bitter-sweet comedy, "Family Album," at Oak Bay Junior High School Friday night.

The moustache worked loose while Mike was portraying a young gentleman of the Old School. Adroitly turning his back on the audience, he snuggled it into the top pocket of his sedate morning coat and carried on without it for the rest of the scene.

"I shall glue it on extra tight for the final performance tonight," he said.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner was asked to comment Friday night on proposed amendments to the Canadian Constitution.

He found this difficult. The draft copy sent to him from Ottawa for his approval was written in legalistic French.

Leave Buses in BCE, Says Drivers' Union

Transferring the Victoria bus system from B.C. Power Commission to the B.C. Electric Crown agency come Jan. 1 is suggested by the bus drivers' union.

Union president David Dickinson said, "The only one who would be against this solution would be the government, but when they took over the BCE they entered the transit field, whether they like it or not."

The situation arises at the end of the year in which B.C. Power Commission takes over all Vancouver Island operations of B.C. Electric, including transit.

MOONEY OUT OF CONTEST FOR MAYOR

Al Millard Mooney will run again for council, not mayor, as he had considered during the past few weeks.

He made his decision Friday night, after ex-alderman Elmer McEwen dropped out of the mayoralty race, leaving R. B. Wilson and MLA Donald Smith, neither a member of the present council.

Al Mooney said family and business pressures influenced his decision not to run for mayor of the city.

"I have, as has always been the case, a keen desire to be mayor and I have given it careful consideration," he said.

Chief of Staff Here Wednesday For Inspection

Chief of Staff of the Canadian Army, Major-General Geoffrey Walsh will be in Victoria Wednesday and Thursday during his cross-Canada inspection of the special militia training program at special schools.

On Wednesday evening at 8, General Walsh will visit Col. L. W. Johnson and officers of 25 Militia Group in the Bay Street Armory. The meeting will be informal and officers will wear civilian clothes.

On Thursday at 9 a.m. the general will inspect troops engaged in the new "national survival" training program in the Armory.

General Walsh will be coming from an inspection tour of the interior of the province, and will fly to Vancouver at the end of his Victoria visit.

yard touchdown pass to Gold-ton to put Ticats ahead 24-4.

That stood up until the final play of the third-quarter when James booted a 28-yard placement.

The Bombers tied it up with less than six minutes to go in the fourth-quarter when James plunged over from a yard out to cap a 79-yard drive.

BOTH COME CLOSE

Each team came close on other drives.

Second-string quarterback Hal Ledyard took over from Pleon shortly after Bombers' single and the western champions drew the big crowd to its feet when he connected with a long pass to Leo Lewis at the Tiger-Cat five-yard line. But the play was nullified on a Winnipeg offside.

In final seconds of the half, Hamilton got down to the Winnipeg one-yard line after tackle John Barrow pounced on a fumble by Ledyard. On the last play of the half Faloney bobbled the passout from centre at the Winnipeg one-yard line and dived on the loose ball as the gun sounded.

Conditions were ideal for this game, the fourth between Ticats and Bombers in the last five years. Temperatures were in the mid-40s, there was only a slight breeze and the field was in almost perfect shape.

Hamilton suffered a couple of injuries in the first half, first when fullback Larry Hickman was carried off on a stretcher with what appeared to be a knee injury, and later when Zen Karcz had to be helped off after a play in which teammate John Barrow recovered a Winnipeg fumble.

Two Businessmen In Theft Trial

Trial began in city police court Friday of two city business men, and the company they operated, charged with theft by failing to account for $5,119.

Charged are William Lemmon, 837 Haliburton, Oswald Norbert Hoseason, 728 Sea Drive, Brentwood, and their company, Associated Resorts and Services.

Complainant is Godfrey Goulet, operator of the Halfway Lunch, 858 Esquimalt Road, the Luck Tex cafe at Goldstream, and two Dairy Queen stands.

He said the contract was formed in July but never completed.

The contract called for joint disbursement of funds to meet debts. He was told the company maintained a separate bank account for his business.

Mrs. Alice Renfrew, 1726 Ruby, who managed one of the Dairy Queen stands for Mr. Goulet, said she often had trouble obtaining funds from Associated Services to meet daily supply expenses.

The trial was adjourned to Dec. 12.

RUSSIA, U.K. ASK LAOS TO OBSERVE CEASEFIRE

LONDON (AP) — Britain and the Soviet Union today joined in urging the three powers disputing control of Laos to ensure strict observance of their cease-fire agreement.

The Anglo-Soviet message apparently arose from concern here and in Moscow about the worsening military and political situation in divided Laos.

The message was signed by British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Two-Vote Majority Okays French Taxes

PARIS (Reuters) — The are needed, together with French government won a majority of just two votes—238 to 236—on an amendment for new taxes when the National Assembly adopted the 1962 budget shortly before dawn today.

The government feared difficulties over the new taxes and economy cuts it had introduced as an amendment into the budget bill—which was for a total of 77,700,000,000 francs ($15,540,000,000) on its second reading.

But in an all-night sitting the deputies approved the amendment with only minor changes. The budget now goes to the Senate for second reading.

The new taxes, to bring in 290,000,000 francs ($38,600,000) are needed, together with economy cuts, to pay increases in salaries to civil servants and in subsidies to the railroads and the Paris Public Transport Corporation to enable them to raise their wages.

Economy cuts of about 308,000,000 francs ($61,600,000) were proposed by the government.

It refused to sanction economies totalling 50,000,000 new francs ($10,800,000) in the cost of French forces stationed in West Africa and Madagascar.

Gaullist and right-wing deputies came to blows when Algeria estimates were discussed in the assembly Thursday.

The 1962 budget total shows an increase over the 1961 total of 72,300,000,000 francs $14,560,000,000.

Threat to Use Own Power Seen as Pressure by U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Politicians spoke today said the United States decision to study the possibilities of developing the vast Columbia River hydro project on its own is both "political pressure" and a

Opposition Leader Strachan called the study a political move to "pressure" the federal government into giving in to Premier Bennett's demands for sale of Canada's downstream Columbia power benefits to the United States.

The New Democratic Party which Mr. Strachan heads, is against such sale.

In Victoria Attorney-General Bonner and Lands and Forests Minister Williston saw the move as a warning to British Columbia that it is in danger of losing its share of downstream power benefits; that there would be no 50-50 split of power as provided in the Columbia treaty if the U.S. goes it alone.

They were commenting on a statement by U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall at a Washington press conference Thursday that if Canada does not ratify the treaty soon, the U.S. government will have to ask Congress for authority to build alternative dams in the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

Obviously the U.S. must be prepared," he added.

Mr. Williston said if Canada doesn't act soon, they'll have to develop other power—either by thermal energy or building new dams."

Provincial Liberal leader Ray Perrault called for an end to the "bickering, back-biting snarlfest" between federal and provincial authorities over the project. He said if no agreement was reached soon the giant scheme was in danger of collapsing.

The American position by the end of this decade will be serious," the attorney-general said. "Whether or not the Columbia development goes ahead in terms of the treaty, they're facing a major power requirement problem."

Obviously the U.S. must be prepared," he added.

The One Big Decision

AS VICTORIA'S CIVIC ELECTION campaign moves into its final two weeks, the bus and city hall issue stands out as the one vital decision before the voters who will elect a new mayor on December 14.

One of the candidates, a Social Credit Party member, has called for the acquisition of the service by the city. The other, Mr. R. B. Wilson has advocated further study of the question and has stated his opposition to the city taking over the system on its own.

Though details of unofficial negotiations are dribbling out, nothing has yet come to light to make city acquisition of the bus service seem attractive to the taxpayers.

It is said that if Victoria took over the buses it could buy the B.C. Power Commission building at less than half the publicized $660,000 price. How long would it take the annual bus operation deficit of between $350,000 and $500,000 to balance that saving?

Candidate J. Donald Smith suggests that the bus service can be a paying operation and that the way to make it pay is to reduce fares. Here is the conventional argument that the lower charge will return higher revenue because of increased volume in passengers.

Does Mr. Smith really believe that the B.C. Electric, which wanted desperately to cut its bus losses, hadn't thought of that? Of course the company had. And on the basis of expert study had abandoned the idea.

As Mayor Scurrah has asked, if the professionals could not find a solution, what hope is there for amateurs?

New Command at UBC

IN SELECTING MRS. FRANK I Ross as Chancellor of the University of B.C., 10,000 alumni around the world have chosen one of Canada's most brilliant women. As an undergraduate, Phyllis Ross compiled a record which gave promise of an outstanding career; a promise richly fulfilled in her wartime service as administrator of the important fats and oils division of Munitions and Supply. In more recent years, British Columbians were able to observe at first hand the excellent job she performed as Chatelaine of Government House. She brings to her new post, therefore, a unique background of business, academic and social experience which equip her admirably for her important duties.

Odd Way to Build Government

THE ARMY IN TURKEY IS TRYING to restore to the country parliamentary government which it ended 18 months ago by throwing out the quarrelsome politicians.

Elections have been held. General Gursel, the only candidate for the office, has been chosen president. He has called upon Mr. Ismet Inonu, the leader of the Republican People's Party, which stems from the movement started by Kemal Ataturk, to form a government.

Mr. Inonu has insufficient members in parliament to establish a viable government and the army, with a flair for expediency which overlooks certain fundamental principles of politics, has ordered a coalition with the Justice party, successors to Mr. Menderes' Democrats.

Mr. Harry Cathcart

PERHAPS NO ONE ALIVE TODAY could define the full service the late Mr. Harry Cathcart gave to the province he loved.

The records are incomplete and impersonal yardsticks. They say that Mr. Cathcart served longer in the civil service than anyone in British Columbia, probably in Canada.

They cannot give flesh and spirit to the life he dedicated to the department of lands. They cannot convey the absorption in his work that brought him from his first job as a messenger, at 13, through 60

Hi Marge! Wadya Hear?

ONCE IT WAS GOLDFISH-swallowing. Later it was competitions to see which college could crowd most students into a phone booth. At another time it was long-distance bed-rolling. Now it's back to the telephone theme with a conversational impact.

From the University of Illinois comes word that boys and girls talked continuously on a pay phone for 120 hours, all for a dime. We presume they worked in re-

If Mr. Smith has forgotten the discussion leading to the last fare increase, the bus-riding public has not. At that time the company presented figures to show that it could not escape raising the price of tickets if it were to approach balancing the costs of operations boosted by an increase in drivers' wages. If the candidate hopes to reduce fares, does he recognize the other side of the equation, which is pay?

Mention is made in current discussions of a prospective private buyer for the bus system. If interests have come forward with an offer, certainly it should be considered. But it can be considered just as well by the government, through the Power Commission, as by the city and municipalities.

The latter's concern is the public interest and the council would undoubtedly demand a say in the disposition of the franchise. At the same time, they have no inclination to first buy the system and then resell it. That would place them in an invidious position if private interests were unable to make a go of the service and relinquished it to the immediately prior owner.

The problem of public transportation in and around Greater Victoria is not going to be solved by any discussion which has so far emerged in the mayoralty election campaign. Much more study is needed—a point Mr. Wilson recognises.

But if the voters of Victoria want to acquire a white elephant they are offered the opportunity. They need only endorse Mr. Smith with sufficient strength to force the city into buying a losing proposition.

Does Mr. Smith really believe that the B.C. Electric, which wanted desperately to cut its bus losses, hadn't thought of that? Of course the company had. And on the basis of expert study had abandoned the idea.

As Mayor Scurrah has asked, if the professionals could not find a solution, what hope is there for amateurs?

Nature Rambles

By FREEMAN KING

BY going into Pike Lake off Munn Road by way of the power line you get into an interesting area.

The forest has been grazed and the undergrowth is sparse and there are many cattle trails which make for easy walking.

The numerous pot-holes and sloughs have been grazed to the point where you find grasses taking over from the usual shrub and cat-tails.

The pools during a recent weekend were covered with a heavy sheet of ice. Around the margins where the ground had been broken by the passage of cattle, miniature castles, turrets and pinnacles of ice made a fairy land, enhanced by the flickering sunlight coming through the trees.

The many kinds of fungi growing there were hard and brittle with the frost. If one attempted to pick them they broke into many pieces.

Along the cattle trails there are many small rock outcrops that are covered with the Sedum plant with its thick fleshy leaves, which show many shades of color ranging from a dull green to a reddish-brown.

Along the margins of the lake the Jack pines with their many tiny cones make a contrast to the bare branches of the Alders.

LOOSE ENDS

Little More Than a Rendezvous at a Reception Line?

THE song of the Columbia is ended, but the melody lingers on. Also the mystery. What, the historian of the last week's events will surely ask, did President Kennedy say to Premier Bennett in Seattle? What did Mr. Bennett say to the President? And what did the tortured Canadian government think of this bizarre interlude?

Perhaps Mr. Bennett merely invited the President to the next Kelowna Regatta and promised him good fishing in Okanagan Lake, the burial place of British Columbia's bonded debt. Perhaps Mr. Kennedy merely sent his regards to Mr. Gunderson and inquired kindly about Mr. Gagliardi's speedometer. Or president and premier actually discussed the Columbia treaty then it was a grievous mistake on both sides.

CONCEIVABLY if Mr. Kennedy had not met Mr. Bennett with so much fanfare, if Mr. Stewart Udall (the champion foot-in-mouth man of the American cabinet) had not trumpeted and approved Mr. Bennett's power policy throughout the United States, then there might have been the chance of a Columbia deal between Ottawa and Victoria.

If there was any chance, which is extremely doubtful, it ended at the moment when the governments of the United States and British Columbia appeared to be ganging up on the government of Canada.

One hastens to add that there is no proof of any such intention on Mr. Kennedy's part. Mr. Fulton, for example, excuses the president from any breach of protocol by saying that Mr. Bennett "pretends, without actually saying so, that he has the support of the U.S. President," that the mysterious Seattle power talks were "little more than a rendezvous at a reception line."

IF ONE is fond of whodunit stories it is intriguing to imagine that Mr. Bennett deliberately lured the Americans, knowing that they would surely harden the Canadian government against his Columbia power sell-out and thus leave the Vancouver market solely to the Peace. This assumes too much subtlety on Mr. Bennett's part. It also assumes an improbable idiocy on the part of the American government.

MADEBETH nothing more occurred than a casual chat at the banquet table but that is not the point. The point is that while the Canadian government exempts Mr. Kennedy from any criticism it is obviously infuriated by Mr. Udall. It suspected a power play by Victoria and Washington. Indeed, the government read all about it in a Victoria newspaper which construed these events as a brilliant triumph for Mr. Bennett.

In this lively version Mr. Bennett seemed to have repeated the famous British victory of the War of 1812 by recapturing Washington, D.C.

THE TRUTH is that Mr. Bennett's first venture into international diplomacy proved to be a disaster for the Columbia treaty, but probably it was dead already before he took his seat at the banquet table. On the other hand, it was a victory for the Peace River scheme and that is Mr. Bennett's only serious concern. By keeping Columbia power out of Vancouver Mr. Bennett has made room for Peace power which could not be sold otherwise.

IF MR. KENNEDY had foreseen that his intentions may have been misinterpreted but he seemed to be pressing too hard for Canada's membership in the Organization of American States. The Canadian government, then almost ready to join that organization, instantly retreated. It could not appear to be yielding to the pressure of the American government. The President set back Canada's membership for several years anyway.

We cannot expect Mr. Kennedy to understand all the ins and outs of Canadian politics, our national instincts and prejudices, our family quarrels. He is overborne every day by matters much more important and probably has more information in his extraordinary mind than any of his predecessors. It is a pity, though, that his advisers didn't brief him better, that Mr. Udall wasn't persuaded to put his feet on the ground rather than in his mouth.

and nothing is more difficult for a foreigner to judge correctly—than a great nation's self-adjustment to a new national role. Yet this kind of adjustment, when it occurs, is a gigantic historical event that affects every world relationship. Consider, for example, the tacit decision of the French nation that the role of France in Europe, as tempt to sustain an imperial role has been bitterly attacked. But the motive was clear and understandable.

The great Labor Foreign Secretary, Ernest Bevin, once told a party meeting that Britain must control Middle Eastern oil because the British workingmen's breakfast depended on it. For this reason, Bevin's Laborite successor, Lord Morrison, asked the U.S. government to support a British landing in Southern Iran.

The Eden government merely dared to do what Morrison wanted to do, and for the same motives. The motives of the Eden government in fact deserve less criticism than the display of self-righteousness which Suez evoked in Washington.

But the attempt made at Suez was a failure, nonetheless; and it was immediately and abundantly clear that this was a last attempt to use force to sustain Britain's old role.

That leaves a curious puzzle concerning the successor government of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. The puzzle is whether this smiling, unready, sometimes rather melodramatic man who inherited the leadership after Suez, has been charting his course by subconscious instinct, or whether he recognized the hard logic of the new British position from the first.

In any case, whether subconsciously or not, the hard logic has been acted upon. The old imperial role has been tacitly but completely abandoned.

The negative act, the tacit abandonment of the imperial role, is not the end of the story. Despite the contrary pull which the Commonwealth still exercises, the Macmillan government is also quite obviously determined to lead Britain into the European Common Market.

Britain is to find a new role, in fact, as a leader and primary influence in the new European grouping. And thus, if all goes well, Europe will become the second giant power of the West.

If Britain's eventual adherence makes the European grouping into a new great power, the U.S. will no longer be the solitary Western giant, courted by London because London wants a special London-Washington relationship, and able to do business separately with Bonn, Paris, and Rome.

The U.S. will be one giant talking to another giant. This new kind of dialogue may be considerably less easy for Americans, and they cannot count on old ties, such as those between Washington and London, to weight the dialogue in their favor.

HISTORY STUDENTS SITTING ON THE FLOOR

At This Moment: A Serious Crisis in Higher Education

GENTLEMEN in England now abed—I am writing this in the early evening, but I think I have calculated the time differential correctly—would start broad awake and stare incredulously if they were informed that I had been addressing a conference on Higher Education. "Emery?"

I can hear them say. "Really?" (Indeed, only an Englishman can say "Really" in such a way that you not only feel that you have been guilty of some monstrous falsehood, but also become a prey to the terrifying suspicion that you have left several important buttons undone.) I have often dreamed of speaking to a distinguished audience on this important topic. Last Saturday I woke up and found that I was doing just that.

I was fifteenth down in the battening order, which is a poor place to be. I might have gained a place or two, but for the superb tactical skill of the publisher of this newspaper, who, finding his own name, through some happy chance, at the head of the list of afternoon speakers, said winningly to the moderator, Rod Haig-Brown: "Why don't we just follow the order given in the program? It will save a lot of trouble."

It was done with a smoothness that would have struck Stephen Potter munificence with envy and admiration: it was, hang it, successful, so I sat sulksily gnawing my whiskers while my most telling points were told by others far better than I could have hoped to do.

The conference itself was one of a series organized by the Alumni Association of the University of British Columbia; it was open to anyone interested, free of charge, and its aim was simply to try to bring to public attention the serious fact that there exists at this very moment a serious crisis in higher education in our province.

Bad as things are at the moment, they are certain to be worse next year, and if something is not done now, the whole fabric of university education in this province will be seriously jeopardized in 1963.

At present students are sitting on the floor in history lectures at UBC because there is no seating accommodation for them. There will be no further addition to the Arts and Science teaching space next year—but there will be another 700 Arts and Science students, a good many of whom are going to add to the mob sitting on the floor.

You don't have to be a brilliant statistician to work out roughly how many students can be expected to turn up in September, though some facility with numbers is a help. What surprises me is that, so far as I know, nobody connected with the present government—and least of all the Minister of Education—has ever made any public reference to the fact that higher education is in danger.

This would be understandable if our universities were private institutions, heavily endowed, but they are not. They are as much a part of our public system of education as the elementary and secondary schools.

Several residents of Nanaimo pointed out to me in conversation that the money which the government is about to spend in taking over the Black Ball operations in Canada would solve the immediate problems for UBC and for Victoria College.

So far as they were concerned, they said, they would rather see the money spent to relieve a genuine need than to provide a largely unnecessary though spectacular addition to the Government's ferry interests. Nanaimo, they said, could have got by without any change in the present arrangements: UBC and Victoria College deserve to be kept afloat in preference to extra ferries.

I was most impressed by the burning sincerity of Walter Koerner, whose speech to the conference was one of the events of the day.

Here was a man who did not need to take any particular interest in education in general or UBC in particular. He might quite easily have salved his conscience with a subscription to the UBC and Victoria College fund drives and left it at that. But he has engaged his heart and soul in the struggle to solve the problem of providing adequate university education for the nameless and faceless numbers that appear on our tables of predicted enrolments for the years ahead.

If you think all this is a publicity stunt put up by the academic world to grab attention, let me give you a figure to mull over. The predicted enrolment for UBC in 1966 is just over 20,000.

They don't want that many; they would begin to cope with that many—it would mean over 150 sections of 1st year English, for a start; but that many are going to arrive. And if it makes you feel any better, I can tell you that the same table that predicted 20,000 for 1966 gave the figure for this year as 12,700: there are actually over 13,000, so it looks as though the prediction errs on the conservative side.

The problem is as important as the hassle over power with which the Government seems to be preoccupied, to the exclusion of everything else, and it is time we heard what they intend to do about it, if anything. The academic world has to look two years ahead, always, since it takes that long to plan and build the rather complicated buildings which house the processes of learning—and the outlook for 1963 is bleak indeed.

Among the aforementioned history students sitting on the floor are some who will one day write the history of our province and of its governments. "History," said Mr. Churchill, "will speak harshly of Neville Chamberlain. I will write it."

I extract what comfort I may from the thought that in front of me as I teach sits someone who will one day cut through the fog and flannel that enwraps the government attitude to higher education and unearth the facts. I hope to live to read his objective judgment on what may well be the most vital issue of today.

A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

My Christmas list, if you care, leans heavily on a few books of unusual quality that have appeared in recent months.

Some special friends will receive Pompeii and Herculaneum, The Glory and the Grief, by Marcel Brion; the text is distinguished and the illustrations are many and beautiful. It tells the story of the Roman cities from their beginnings until their burial by an eruption of Vesuvius on Aug. 24, in the year 79 A.D., and the careful investigation that has since brought them back to light in fossilized classic beauty.

Looking at these pictures, I wonder how we have the gall to assert that our standard of living is the highest in the history of man. Conveniences we have, though life in Pompeii was convenient too; but beauty we have not.

An Eternity of Humiliation

In the course of excavation, many bodies of Pompeians have been found, turned literally to stone where they fell as they tried to escape the rushing lava. One of these is that of an aristocratic woman who was caught with her low-born lover in the gladiator's quarters of the city. To be taken in adultery must always be embarrassing; to be mummified in that posture for 1,900 years surely establishes a record in prolonged humiliation.

To various friends who like what is distinguished in modern fiction I am giving The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie, by

Elusive Child Quality Captured by City Artist

It is always amazing to me when I find, right here in Victoria, a talent that is outstanding and reaching out to a national standard. An artist, by virtue of her creative abilities, deserves a pat on the back.

Last week I had the privilege of visiting the studio of Gladys Sawyer and saw both her workshop and the fine children's portraits she is executing. Here is an artist with a determination to capture that inner sparkle so often seen in children, but so hard to record on paper.

Mrs. Sawyer does find that elusiveness, and the sparkle evolves from the soft strokes of pastel.

For a number of years she studied sculpture and completed several interesting castings; on the whole her figures and figures showed good mature ability. Later Mrs. Sawyer created a number of intimate family portraits in plaster, and these, I believe, perhaps unconsciously, led to her extensive study in portraiture. In this work she came mainly under the tuition of Peggy Walton Packard.

Her teacher in the art of pastel drawing was Elizabeth Goward and her own forceful energy is responsible for the lively and refreshing children seen in her portraits.

Gladys Sawyer prefers her

Greeting Cards, War Paintings In Gallery Show

Two new exhibitions will open Tuesday at the Art Gallery to take the place of the gallery's 10th anniversary exhibition "From the Age of Elegance" and a watercolor exhibit by Arthur Pitts which closes at 5 p.m. Sunday.

The new exhibitions will be a series of paintings by Canadian war artists on the Italian campaign, and 100 Antique greeting cards from the Hallmark Historical Collection giving a survey of the best Christmas, Easter, and other greeting cards produced during the past 100 years.

The response to the last exhibition has been the greatest in the history of the gallery since it moved to Moss Street. It is expected that 5,000 people will have seen the show since it opened on Nov. 9.

A trio of delightful children's books for the 10-year-old and under group has been released by the publishers, just in time for Christmas giving to that favourite youngster in your life.

"Becky's Christmas" is a warm, wholesome story of a true old-fashioned Christmas when Becky and her family enjoy the simple, homey pleasures and the old-time customs that create the real meaning of the festive season.

Youngsters will get as excited as Becky as Christmas preparations get under way. Older folk will recall with nostalgia the Christmases of their childhood. An enchanting book with delightful illustrations on every page, that any ten-year-old will love to read.

The second book is the story of "Stick-A-Noose-In" and makes exciting reading for the younger fry, who will laugh at the antics of the little brown bear who is always getting into mischief because he will stick his nose in where he's not supposed to. There is a good moral in this tale, too.

Drug Addict 'Hospital'

An institution for the incarceration and treatment of drug addicts in British Columbia will be started within the coming year, it was announced in Ottawa today by federal penitentiaries commissioner A. J. MacLeod.

It is understood the institution will be established in Vancouver, but the RCMP in Victoria said they had no official details as yet.

A spokesman said the new institution is provided for by the Narcotics Control Act, which was passed in the House of Commons in Ottawa last September.

No further information was available from the B.C. attorney-general's department in Victoria this morning.

In Ottawa, Mr. MacLeod announced a $20,000 program of additional penitentiary institutions to be completed across Canada over the next four years.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Filters, Not Barriers, Protect Tender Subjects

By JACK BEASTALL

It is understood the institution will be established in Vancouver, but the RCMP in Victoria said they had no official details as yet.

No further information was available from the B.C. attorney-general's department in Victoria this morning.

In Ottawa, Mr. MacLeod announced a $20,000 program of additional penitentiary institutions to be completed across Canada over the next four years.

At times, in our haste to protect plants from sun, wind, frost, rain, or snow, we devise a shelter which should be sufficient to protect the real treasures when the Christmas decorations are discarded.

Next best among the more easily obtained materials is a loosely woven sacking or a double thickness of open weave onion bag arranged so that the openings are staggered.

BUILD FILTER

Lacking either of the above the gardener may in an emergency build an effective wind break by driving lengths of three-inch V-joint into the soil in a double row with spaces staggered.

Considering first the wind-break. We usually endeavor to erect a solid barrier to the passage of wind, a barrier which is often blown down on the plant it was to protect, or it breaks the force of the gust on the windward side and creates eddies in the lee that batter the plant unmercifully.

The principle of a shelter belt for the protection of property or buildings, is to break a mass of rapidly moving air into a number of small streams and so lessen the pressure. This is due to a condition called turbulence. The air mass is parted, or broken up, as it flows past the wires and forms eddies on the far side of each strand. These eddies stir the air and increase the temperature.

The principle of turbulence is used when large fans are erected in orchards, or fires are lit, to keep the air moving when frost is imminent.

PLASTIC DANGER

A practice of recent origin is to wrap plants in plastic for frost protection. This is only a help providing the plastic cover is large enough to cover the plant without touching the foliage. While plastic permits the passage of a small amount of air, it is an effective barrier to moisture, so that the inner can be done during February or March without disturbing the roots.

Corms of Anemone de Caen (single) and St. Brigid (double) can still be planted in a sunny, well drained spot for lovely colors next May and early summer.

The yellow marguerite (Chrysanthemum frutescens) has been spoilt by frost in most gardens. Cut back the dead flowers and take the plants under cover of a greenhouse. Shoots can be taken off cuttings in late February for new plants next year.

Lily bulbs should be planted as soon as obtained. If soil is of a heavy texture and too wet for digging, put the bulbs into well-drained, large pots of sandy soil which is damp but not wet. Stand pots in a cold frame covered from rain but freely ventilated. Planting out

To loosen an accumulation of wax on linoleum, spread it with a coating of soap or detergent suds for about 10 minutes. Then scrub and rinse the linoleum as usual and let dry before applying new finish.

Blackboards for Fun Are Easy to Make

All youngsters seem to enjoy a blackboard in spite of the always present danger that it might be a help with school work.

A blackboard, then, will qualify as a Christmas gift. In fact, a delightful gift, and one you can make yourself and blame on Santa's workshop.

Both boards can be cut from one sanded panel of  $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch fir plywood. First cut the 4x8 panel into two pieces each 2x8 feet. One piece makes the wall blackboard.

The easel board is made by cutting the second piece in half and joining the 2x4 feet sections with a pair of flat butt hinges. Thread a cord through the sections as indicated and knot it so that the bottoms of the boards are 30 inches apart when separated.

Two pieces of 1x2-inch lumber will make a ledge on both blackboards.

One coat of primer and three coats of blackboard paint will finish the job. Sand the plywood surface before applying primer and again lightly before applying the special blackboard paint.

Instead of purchasing blackboard paint you can mix a good finish, enough for the smaller board, with a pint of methylated spirits, two ounces of shellac, a few cents worth of lamp black, two ounces of pumice and two ounces of rotten-stone. Mix thoroughly and apply over a sanded primer coat. Increase the ingredients proportionately to cover both boards or for extra coats.

Classic Game Fine Gift

This is probably the original "game," discovered when a Neanderthal hunter generously flipped a ring of marrow bone to his mate and inadvertently hung it on her nose.

Ever since, small areas of

Thatched Roofs, Old Art Lives On

Probably no sight in England is more calculated to catch the eye of the Canadian visitor—and his camera—than the snugly thatched roof of a simple cottage, it set in the open fenlands of East Anglia or nestling in a wooded valley in East Devon or Somerset.

Many visitors arrive believing thatched roofs to be scarce; a British tourist "comes on."

It is in the three counties of Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk—classed more generally as East Anglia—that thatching with Norfolk reed flourishes.

LIKE BRISTLE BROOM

The reeds are grown in vast river beds and many thatchers have had cutting rights on their own particular stretch of water for generations. In appearance, the finished roof of Norfolk reed has a stiff, unyielding outline, with a texture like a bristle broom. On this dry, windswept coast a new coat of thatch will last for about 60 years.

Going westwards into Hampshire and Wiltshire—and at the same time northwards to the lower Midlands—the material in use changes to long straw. Here the climate is less blustery and unkind and straw is well suited to the gentle, undulating countryside.

The extreme West of England calls for a longer-lasting material and one better qualified to stand damp and misty atmosphere. It is here that wheat reed comes into its own—the stalks and husks of wheat specially processed with a reed comber to preserve their length and strength.

In Devon and Somerset farmers grow wheat specifically for reed, as the usual method of combining makes straw useless for thatching purposes. This type of thatch will last for 30 years.

In all cases, the reed is secured with pegs or spars made from hazel or willow wood and twisted into hairpin shape. The making of these accessories is an art in itself and only one of the many aspects the thatcher has to learn during his five years' apprenticeship in the craft.

Formosans grow garden crops on every square inch of tillable land on the island—even in the spaces between railroad tracks.

ONE OF INDIA'S most remarkable structures, the porch of the temple of the sun god, at Konarak, was built in the shape of a chariot complete with wheels and horses.

By HORACE SUTTON

Italian singer. The place is managed, after all, by an Enzo Coscia, an Italian marchese who thinks nothing at all of serving at the buffet tables.

Having a bona fide marchese, flipping you a meatball is mighty entertaining right there. About the only thing that troubles me at The Racquet Club is when somebody says "Wonderful service," you never know whether he is talking about the kitchen or the courts.

At the bottom of the hill is the public beach known, for reasons that escape me, as Doctor's Cave, where there is an appreciable spread of sand and a sizable spread of sea and the mountains rising in the background. Across the street stands the new Beach View Shopping Centre where visitors are invited to go off the deep end without getting near the water.

Among the inhabitants are Danish House which has silver, stainless steel and enamelware, the Irish linen shop from Bermuda, and Temple Galleries, Jamaica's famed cabinet shop which is showing enormous salad bowls, square wooden serving plates, as well as reproductions of antiques.

In the centre court, tables have been set under thatched awnings and visitors can dine in the open with a rushing stream swirling underfoot. Straw hats, bags and other native handicraft, especially carved wooden things, are peddled across the street at the entrance to Doctor's Cave Beach.

There is a frightful competition in it inspiring one enterprising whittier who carried an enormous basket full of his wares to sidle up to me and after a fateful pause ask, "Have you bought your yester yet?"

The Twist is being twisted (and so are the ankles of some practitioners) at native places like The Spotted Dog and the Yellow Bird, but I can scarcely recommend the entertainment anymore than I can recommend the churlish Jamaica customs and health officials. You'll be better off at The Reef, a waterside spot beyond the airport—complete with pool, Latin entertainment, and steaks.

The Racquet Club, which will lean towards Italian cuisine, is running in an open night the tennis were having at each other at two in the morning under a watermelon moon. The Racquet Club will be the only place this side of a Paris boulevard in spring offering outdoor love matches played under lights.

Spectators who sit by the poolside and look down on the courts can also sweep across to the panorama of Montego Bay itself, with the circular bump of Round Hill, that El Morocco of the mild climates protruding clearly on the opposite shore. Also pasted against the hillside, just under the courts, is a complex called Corniche Great House, a collection of 14 kitchenette apartments arranged in the style of an 18th century sugar plantation on the site of an old Spanish fort.

The studio quarters comprising room, bath, kitchenette and patio, are leased for $10 to $22 a day, depending on the season.

For anyone seeking to escape the winter, the bill collector or steady employment, there are the Corniche Villas, a group of four houses to let at anywhere from $300 a month in the slack season to

Talking Labels' At Big Aquarium

New York's Coney Island is one of the most famous of all seaside resorts. Thousands of visitors from all over the world have enjoyed its fabulous rides, sampled its hot dogs and cotton candy, and basked on Coney's five mile beach of gently sloping white sand.

There could be no more appropriate location for the New York Aquarium. Facing Coney's famous boardwalk, the Aquarium is a popular attraction for visitors to New York, as well as a distinguished scientific institution that is known throughout the world for its rare specimens of marine life.

Its tanks reproduce sections of the sea bottom in various parts of the world—coral reefs, the North Atlantic or the bottom of a busy harbor. Specimens range from giant sharks and venomous stonefish to weird sea anemones and the beautifully colored denizens of tropical waters.

An unusual feature of the Aquarium is its "talking label" system. Visitors rent earphones at the entrance which can be plugged into a slot in the railing at each tank for a brief recorded talk on the life and habits of the specimens. Some of the talking at the Aquarium is done by the fish themselves. Visitors can push a button to hear the noises made by fish to communicate with each other.

CLASSIC WON'T RETURN TO COAST UNTIL 1963

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto, as expected, will again host the Grey Cup football final next year. Canadian Football League executives, meeting here Friday, decided to play the 1962 game in CNE Stadium Dec. 1. The 1963 classic was awarded to Vancouver. CFL brass also decided to hold their 1962 annual meeting in Vancouver Feb. 16 and 17, the first time the annual confab has been held in a city other than Winnipeg.

Hal Malone
LOOKS AT SPORTS

Since travel broadens a person, a visitor to 707 Robleda Crescent half expected to be met by an exotic female, garbed in a Dior sash, Persian earrings, Viennese perfume and clutching a count or even, perhaps, a duke.

After all Susan Butt had been picking up her mail the last eight months in such cosmopolitan villages as Istanbul, Beirut, Monte Carlo and Berlin.

Instead the visitor was received by a vision, statuesque and charming, neatly clothed in a warm brown dress and pleasant matching smile. She even spoke like a Canadian.

"No counts, dukes or earls hiding behind your back?"

"Not a one," she laughed. "They're not that plentiful in Europe, you know. Come in. I'll tell you about it."

It is quite a feat to capsule in an hour an eight-month tennis odyssey of Europe. But Susan Butt, for two years Canada's No. 1 women's tennis player, is quite a person.

She had hit, she said, most of the high spots—and a few of the low ones—in free Europe. She might still have been battling the ball around except that two months ago exhaustion diminished her fancy for living out of a suitcase.

"After six solid months of travelling and tournaments, I felt washed out. I thought that after a rest I might want to go back on the circuit. But the feeling for it wasn't there. So I came home."

There had been some talk of her playing in Moscow and India.

"I wanted to go to Moscow very much," she said. "But the tournament conflicted with others so I had to pass it. I received an invitation to play in India but I turned it down. The circuit lasts three months. From what I heard it can be difficult. Dysentery and all that. Besides playing in Delhi and Bombay, there are also tournaments in small places where the hotels, well . . ."

"Long on view and short on plumbing?"

"That's about it," she smiled. That she even managed to make the tour is more a reflection on her own drive and ambition than on the perspicacity of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

When Susan—and Eleanor Dodge of Montreal—applied for funds, the CLTA displayed its usual opulence. "You may play as official Canadian representatives," said the CLTA. "But money! Goodness to Betsy, we couldn't think of it."

Somebody had to think of it. The BCLTA bent slightly. Susan's dad and tutor, Jack Butt, opened his wallet. And Susan herself applied savings from a journalistic chore with the Times.

First-Class Ride at Wimbledon

Once on the circuit, expenses were no longer a problem. "Hotels, meals, laundry, the tab is picked up," says Susan. "West Germany was the best country for expenses—they're riding an economic boom. England was the worst, except for Wimbledon, where everything is first class."

Every time she mentioned Wimbledon, you could almost feel the awe in her voice.

"I played my best tennis at Wimbledon," she said. "Oh, I won the singles championship in Holland and the doubles in Germany but Wimbledon pulls the best out of you."

"Why? Everything about Wimbledon is the best. The grass. The ball-boys. Every other place you have to shout at them. At Wimbledon they are so perfectly trained you aren't even aware of them. And the crowds are different. More knowledgeable than any other country. No matter where you go in England, once they find out you're playing at Wimbledon, nobody can do too much for you."

"When I played Sandra Reynolds of South Africa—she was seeded No. 1—on the centre court, there were 14,000 in the stands. It shook me to see that many at a match."

"I lost (6-3, 6-2) but not because of the crowd. Sandra was just too good."

Socially, the European circuit can be as gay or cloistered as the individuals want it to be. Functions are numerous. Champagne is poured for breakfast or into the early hours. Most of the players discipline themselves. A few play it like there's no tomorrow.

Canada Most in Need of Coaching

Whitney Reed, the U.S. ace, favors the throttle-open technique. "He thinks nothing of partying until five in the morning and then sleeping until his match in the early afternoon. Plays a good game, too. But it's catching up with him."

That's putting it politely. Mr. Reed spends so much time at the bar, he has very little left for his studies. He is one of the rare 29-year-old undergraduates at University of Southern California.

Of all the countries represented, Australia takes tennis more seriously than anybody. Russia is showing the fastest improvement ("they've only been at it eight years but Fred Perry is bringing them along quickly"), and Canada is most in need of coaching.

"With the Aussies, tennis is a business, not a sport. They're all paid. Coaches, managers, and especially players."

"They tell a story about Mervyn Rose—he turned pro officially just recently—that is probably more truth than fiction."

"Seems the Aussies were quite upset because of a report that Rose had received 16,000 in expense money on one tour."

"When Rose heard about it, he exploded. 'What are they talking about?' he asked. '16,000 indeed! I got 18,000, not a penny less!'"

Gay Is How He Feels After Eight-Under 64

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Gay Brewer Jr. blitzed his first-round 73 for 141 and a tie for 11th place.

George Knudson of Toronto came in with a 71 for a 145 total and Jack Dissegger of Val. Morin, Que., shot his second 73, finishing the second round at 146. Al Johnston of Montreal shot a 73, one stroke less than his first-round score, to come in at 147. Bob Panas of Windsor, Ont., Will Homeniuk of Winnipeg and Jean-Paul Allary of Beloeil, Que., all failed to make the cutoff for the third round.

Al Balding of Toronto fired his four-under-par 68 to go with an eight-under-par 64 and a three-stroke second-round lead in the $20,000 West Palm Beach open-golf tournament.

Balding, who came in at 133, overtook the first day's leader, Don Massengale, who tacked a 69 onto his opening day 67 for a 136 total and second place.

His third-round place behind Brewer and Massengale was Tommy Aaron, who with 138.

TALKING LIKE CAPITALIST

Don't Feel Sorry for Young Tom

TORONTO (AP)—Don't cry for young Tom McNeely.

The supposedly sacrificial lamb for heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will collect about $125,000 as well as a chance to hit the jackpot in the world title fight at Maple Leaf Gardens Monday night.

McNeely's biggest purse was $9,000 for one of his three bouts with George Logan, the most formidable of his 23 mediocre opponents in an unbeaten professional career of 3½ years. His purse for the title fight, including the gate and theatre-television, probably will be more than he has grossed in all of his bouts.

McNeely, 24, a native of Arlington, Mass., already is talking like his capitalistic manager, auto agency owner Peie Fuller.

"Oh, those taxes," Tom moaned Friday.

"It's great to be in a bracket where you can worry about taxes," consoled his Harvard-educated manager.

Fuller said he almost had to scrape the bottom of the barrel to put up $1,000,000 guaranteeing Patterson a return fight within 120 days in case McNeely gets lucky and dethrones the champion, favored at 10 to 1.

If that upset should happen, McNeely will have the pleasure of learning about the brackets of 85 per cent and up like the 26-year-old champion.

CHANCE FOR JACKPOT

Before McNeely went through limbering-up exercises Friday, Charley Goldman, who trained former heavyweight king Rocky Marciano, arrived to join the challenger's brain trust.

"Tom's got a couple of things going for him," Goldman said. "He's rough and tough like Rocky and he goes right after a guy. If he gets in the first good punch on Patterson, strange things may happen."

Bucks Setting Pace In WHL Gate Climb

SEATTLE (AP)—Attendance has jumped more than 25 per cent this season in the Western Hockey League.

The latest attendance figures available showed today the league has drawn 309,405 customers, compared to 241,073 for the same number of games at the start of last season.

Portland, which smashed all attendance records in its first season of operation, is setting an even hotter pace this year. The Buckaroos drew 93,134 to their first 19 home games. Last year the 12-game attendance was 68,791.

In only four home games San Francisco Seals have drawn 30,573. At Winnipeg a year ago the team drew only 8,943 customers after four tilts.

BLADES DRAW 47,012

The other newcomer, Los Angeles, reports 47,012 fans for its 10-home-game beginning. The 10-game start at Victoria last season drew 25,043.

Only Vancouver and Calgary have slipped from their 1959 60 pace, and the former merely to 20,20 from 29,995 in a nine-game stretch. Calgary with 28,242 customers for its first nine games last year, had only 19,153 for the same span this season.

League president Al Leader expressed confidence the Calgary attendance would improve when football excitement lessened in Canada.

Seattle attendance has improved to 32,870 from 29,019 last year over a 12-game run; Spokane has gone to 37,542 from 31,686 for 12 games; Edmonton, in 10 games, has climbed to 29,101 from 28,354.

General managers of the two new California franchises said they are greatly encouraged by fan support. Both clubs have made concentrated efforts to introduce the ice game to coatless Californians.

Thousands of instructional books have been distributed, clinics for fans have been held. Los Angeles Blades have televised six home and nine road games.

The PNE has not put the club last in the WHL Northern Division, up for sale. But newspaper columnists have said that it should get out of the hockey business which, because of low attendances, is estimated to be costing the PNE around $2,000 a home game.

Meanwhile, San Francisco tightened its hold on third place in the Southern Division by turning back second-place Spokane on Mickoski's goal at 17.17 of the final period.

Duke Edmundson, with two, and Gordie Redhall scored other Seals' goals. Bill Bell, Max Melikoff and Dick Lamoreaux scored for Spokane.

Hockey games now are played at the PNE's old Forum which seats about 5,000.

MALONE INTERESTED

Former NHL star Walter "Babe" Pratt and Clint Smith, who played for New York Rangers in the 1940s, said they will have a bid ready in a few days.

Coach Phil Maloney said in a telephone interview Friday from Edmonton: "I also have a group of people lined up who are definitely interested in buying the club. I can give no further details at this point, but if bids are to be considered, we would like to be included."

Canucks didn't improve the potential value of the franchise Friday night. They lost a 7-4 decision before 2,400 fans at Edmonton as Flyer defenceman Lloyd Haddon rammed home two goals to raise his season's total to 11.

Forward Nick Mickoski scored the winning goal late in the third period to give the Seals a 4-3 win over Spokane Comets before 3,363 fans in San Francisco.

"All things being equal, I'd say 'no' to a second all-star game even next year," he said. "If I had to vote, however, I would have to say yes because of the unusual circumstances currently prevailing."

"The players have need of the money a second game would net ($225,000). They have taken on an added debt to their pension fund by embracing the managers and players of two new teams (Houston and New York) for pension benefits."

Judge Robert Cannon, the players' legal adviser, said the players' indebtedness amounts to $100,000 which must be amortized in 20 years. He said 112 new players have been added to plan at a cost of $1,000,000. He listed these among his arguments for a second game.

CURLING CUES

By MATT BALDWIN

Three-time Canadian Champion

In this article, we will discuss the slide delivery and decide whether an individual should try to develop it.

I think that the answer to this question depends entirely upon the person himself . . . whether he is young, middle-aged, elderly, or if he has been playing for a considerable period with another delivery.

First of all, let us consider the novice. There is no doubt in my mind that he should learn the slide. The boys and girls have the physical attributes which permit the slide delivery to be performed correctly . . . agility, supple-ness and probably a better sense of balance. They also have the necessary time and enthusiasm to practise and perfect it.

The medium or short slide.

Now if you are along into middle age, just taking up the game and intrigued by the slide, I believe you should give it a try.

Should you have difficulty adapting yourself, however, perhaps you should settle for a short intermediate slide which will still give you most of the shotmaking benefits. You will receive more personal satisfaction than you would from struggling with the long slide and never getting it down properly.

An older person should not even consider it, although I agree that there are some sprightly enough who could. This is the time of life to enjoy the game with as little physical discomfort as possible. Sore muscles aren't worth the chips. I am sure they find their short or back delivery, with a little sweeping thrown in, will give them all the exercise they need or care for.

ON THE ALLEYS

Holiday Tournaments Tune Up Muscles

There's nothing like tournament competition to sharpen bowling muscles for big events, which suggests that December's usual round of holiday tournaments at Victoria pin houses could attract bumper entries.

Scheduled for city tenpin lanes in February are the annual men's and women's chassis for Victoria titles. And following in February is the one that all that any male pinbuster would like to win, the B.C. finals, scheduled for March 17, 18.

Keplers wound up some pre-holiday prize-chasing at Aurora Lanes last weekend with Victoria's Frances King and Ron Smillie of Duncan getting down in front in the mixed doubles event with a total of 1,233, including handicap. Joan Luscombe and Doug Elford finished second and Icy Wright and Richie Lou were third.

In the four-game men's singles event it was Rene LeBus setting the pace and picking up $65 in prize money with a total of 859, three pins less than scores managed by Spike Lee, Vancouver, and Smillie, who were deadlocked in the runner-up spot.

Beth Elliott fired 768 to take the top women's prize.

Plans for the city tournament will be discussed Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Victoria Tenpin Association.

Officials, who usually come in for criticism after the annual event but get few suggestions beforehand, have invited all ABC members to attend and give out with the ideas.

Also carded at the meeting are election of officers and adoption of the new ABC constitution.

Third Straight Test Century

KANPUR, India (Reuters)

India was 437 for seven at close of play on the second day of its second test match against England today.

The Indians added 228 for the loss of four wickets on a lifeless pitch as veteran Polly Umrigar made 132 not out for his 11th test century.

He reached the century in 10 hours. It was his third test hundred in succession.

With his 68th run, Umrigar, already the Indian record-holder, notched his 3,000 test run.

Wilcox Receives Glen Lake Trophy

Norman Wilcox received a trophy as the most valuable player with the Glen Lake Roughriders as the bantam football club this week held a wind-up banquet at Green Spot Cafe, Colwood.

Crests were presented to all members of the Roughriders, who played exhibition games this year but are scheduled to compete in a Vancouver Island League next season.

Manager Cliff Hobbs and coaches Mel Housely and Art Hobbs expressed appreciation for aid given to the club in its first season by merchants, fans and the B.C. Lions football club.

Bright Future For B.C. Mining, Survey Shows

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

The big annual review edition of the Northern Miner published this week (incidentally with a full-page picture of B.C.'s Craigmont Mine featured on the cover) presents just about as optimistic a view of the mining industry as anyone could hope for.

After several difficult years in the industry, the paper sees Bell both short-term and long-term improvements well in sight due to increased activity in the major consuming markets.

With three-quarters of Canada's mineral production sold abroad (the figure for B.C. is well above that), competition for markets with lower-cost countries is keen.

"Mining is one of Canada's few basic industries that is still far from its peak," the review says. "Improved transportation, new prospecting methods, steadily increasing skill are joining to open up new areas of mineral promise. It all adds up to an expectancy of even greater things in the years ahead."

Newmont Mining Corp. of New York, the company which controls and is developing Granduc Mines Ltd. property north of Stewart, B.C., has announced it plans to increase its interest in Magma Copper Co. from 21½ to 80 per cent.

In a $58 million deal, Newmont will offer three-quarters of a share of a new 4 per cent cumulative, convertible issue for each Magma share not now held.

Newmont does not plan to merge with Magma, one of the big American gold and silver producers, but will operate it as a controlled subsidiary.

"Mining is one of Canada's

New Mining Merger Proposed

Three B.C. mining companies in which Placer Development Ltd. has substantial interests will ask shareholders to approve a merger deal.

Centennial Mines Ltd., Magnum Copper Co. Ltd. and Tombac Exploration Ltd. will form a new company, Magnum Consolidated, if the deal goes through at a shareholders' meeting early in January.

Shares in the new company would be distributed: Magnum Copper, one for two; Centennial, one for four, and Tombac, two for seven.

An announcement said directors of the companies believed the administrative efficiencies and consolidated assets would enable the new company to undertake exploration and developments on a scale larger than any of the three could undertake individually.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Silver, Tariff Issues Pushed To Forefront

NEW YORK (AP)—Two ancient economic issues—silver and tariff—were thrust into the forefront of U.S. business and financial news this week by action—and contemplated actions—from President Kennedy.

The president ordered the U.S. treasury to stop selling government-owned silver and he was reported preparing to ask Congress for authority to negotiate tariff cuts up to 50 per cent on whole categories of products.

Government sales of silver not needed for currency backing have held the price of silver at 91½ cents an ounce by law since 1946.

The effect of the presidential order was to create an open market for silver. In New York, a dealer immediately quoted a price just above $1 an ounce. In London, the price moved above 98 cents an ounce, the highest there in 20 years.

Stocks of silver producers apportioned on the exchanges.

The new tariff proposal is expected to be submitted to Congress in January and is considered likely to run into considerable opposition.

COULD SLASH TARIFFS

Under the anticipated program, the president could slash tariffs in half in a single year. The existing reciprocal trade act permits reductions of five per cent annually for four years.

The president's intention, it was, said unofficially, would be to keep the door open for U.S. exports to Europe and to ease trade throughout the free world at the price of admitting more imports to the U.S.

Meanwhile, the Christmas buying season got off to an excellent start. Reports from around the U.S. indicated that shoppers were out in droves and buying more heavily than at this stage last year.

The labor department reported that prices paid by consumers edged to a new high in October. Its cost of living index rose to 128.4 per cent of the 1947-49 average from 128.3 per cent in September.

Much of the advance was attributed to higher prices charged by dealers for 1962 model automobiles.

However, the higher prices failed to discourage car buyers. New car sales for the middle 10 days of November, averaging 23,093 a day, were the highest ever for the period.

Steel production slipped to the lowest level in two months last week, when 2,932,000 tons were turned out, compared with 2,937,000 the previous week.

Industry leaders predicted a sharp increase in December and January from the present rate of about 70 per cent of capacity.

Wheat Exports Increase

WINNIPEG (CP)—Exports of wheat and wheat flour totalled 35,409,722 bushels last October, a substantial increase from the 23,619,593 bushels shipped in the same month in 1960.

Wheat exports amounted to 32,909,722 bushels last October to raise the total cleared in the first quarter of the 1961-62 crop year to approximately 97,500,000 bushels.

This is 25,700,000 ahead of the August-October period last year the board of grain commissioners said in its monthly report.

West Germany led all other Canadian customers by taking slightly more than 8,000,000 bushels of wheat in October. The United Kingdom took 7,300,000, while Japan and Red China each took 4,200,000.

Vancouver was the busiest of Canadian ports in October handling 11,900,000 bushels of bulk grain. Montreal cleared 9,400,000 bushels for export.

More Canadians Own Refrigerators, TVs Survey Shows

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of Canadian households enjoying electrical and other conveniences continued to increase during 1961, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has reported.

Somé 84 per cent of Canadian households had television sets compared to 80.6 per cent in 1960 and those with the telephones edged up to 84.5 per cent compared to 83.3.

Those with radios remained virtually unchanged at 96.3 per cent.

Electrical refrigerators were found in 91.8 per cent of households compared with 90.3 in 1960. Almost 86 per cent of households had automatic or other electric washing machines compared to 86.7 a year ago.

DBS figures up to May of 1961 indicate 8.1 per cent or 362,000 Canadian households had two cars as against 324,000 a year earlier. Those with at least one car jumped to 80.7 per cent compared with 59.2 a year earlier.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Silver Boom Proved Main Feature

By JOHN BELANGER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A silver boom, increased industrial prices and slightly higher speculations highlighted this week's stock market.

A U.S. announcement late Tuesday that the U.S. would stop selling silver and would seek permission to stop buying it sent prices of silver stocks substantially ahead.

Wednesday saw issues such as United Keno, one of the world's largest silver producers, Agnico, Highland-Bell and Langis all advance trading to 3 cents also in heavy trading.

All declined slightly in Thursday's expected sell-off, but the four maintained rises as high as 27 cents in heavy turnover.

Speculatives traded heavily but advanced only small amounts. Iso Mines jumped 38 cents to $1.23 with volume of 365,750 shares, while Black Bay Uranium, Baska and Deer Horn all rose in the five to 8½-cent range. Black Bay finished first on the weekly most active list and traded 2,752,725 shares.

Lake Dufault fell 1.87½ on the week on a turnover of 599,205 shares. Wiltz-Coghlan with property adjacent to Dufault in Quebec's Rouyn-Noranda area, dropped 14 cents to 3 cents also in heavy trading.

INDUSTRIALS CLIMB

Industrials climbed 7.81 to 2,750 on index.

National Steel Co. paced industrials with a $4.75 gain to $21 on the strength of Tuesday's news that Dominion Foundries and Steel has offered to exchange one share of Dominion for each three of National. Montreal Locomotive and Dominion Bridge scored rises of $1 or more, while fractional advances went to Algoma, Canadian Vickers, United Steel, Page-Hersey and Steel Company of Canada.

Banks were strong with Nova Scotia, Montreal, Royal and Toronto-Dominion all at new highs. Only Nova Scotia maintained its high, but all finished with gains of a point or more on the week.

Trading in both golds and western oils was light with few major changes. Campbell Red Lake gained $1.12½ in the former category, while Hudson's Bay Oil rose 25 cents.

METALS REACH HIGHS

The senior base metals list featured new highs to Noranda and Waite Amulet. Both backed down in Friday's session. International Nickel rose a hefty $5 on the week, while Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting and Quebec were ahead.

Trading in both golds and western oils was light with few major changes. Campbell Red Lake gained $1.12½ in the former category, while Hudson's Bay Oil rose 25 cents.

ROYAL COMMISSION ON BANKING AND FINANCE

Submissions and Public Hearings

Public hearings will be held in Western Canada in the following cities on the dates indicated:

March 12 Victoria

March 13 to 16, and possibly 17 Vancouver

March 19 to 21 Edmonton

March 22, 23, and possibly 24 Regina

April 9 to 11 Winnipeg

The time and place for these hearings will be announced later.

Submissions are invited from organizations, associations, and individuals wishing to submit information and proposals relating to the work of the Commission, which has the following terms of reference:

(a) to enquire into and report upon the structure and methods of operation of the Canadian financial system, including the banking and monetary system and the institutions and processes involved in the flow of funds through the capital market; and

(b) to enquire into and report upon the financial system and, more particularly, the banking and monetary system of the Province of Canada, the Yukon, Northwest Territories and Nunavut, and other relevant federal legislation.

Submissions (20 copies) should be in writing and should reach the Royal Commission on Banking and Finance, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0L2, not later than April 10, 1962.

While the Commission will endeavor to hear as many submissions as possible, it can give no undertaking that it will be possible to give a public hearing to all those who submit briefs.

Persons wishing to appear before the Commission and conduct of the hearings may be obtained by writing to:

The Secretary, Royal Commission on Banking and Finance, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0L2, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada.

Four Years in Jail For $23 Robbery

(Times News Services)

VANCOUVER—A four-year penitentiary term was handed out today to Wayne Rose, 22, of Chapleau, Ont., who pleaded guilty last week of robbing a store-keeper of $23 at knifepoint.

Earlier in the week Magistrate Oscar Orr sentenced Barry Lauzen, 25, or Long Lac, Ont., to four years for his part in the robbery of Daniel Lee in his store Nov. 18.

Rose told the magistrate he took part in the holdup because he needed money and could find no other way to get it.

2 Years for $30,000

VANCOUVER—A Vancouver policeman's wife Friday was jailed for two years less a day for stealing $30,000 from her employers where she worked as bookkeeper.

Counsel for Mrs. June Svensson, 39, said in court the only reason she pleaded guilty to the theft of the $30,000 was because defence could not prove she took less.

Picketers Protest

VANCOUVER—B.C. Federation of Labor has protested to Premier Bennett that provincial government trucks are crossing picket lines and doing business with firms being struck.

Federation secretary Pat O'Neal said Friday: "We find it hard to believe that the people of B.C. are desirous of subsidizing what in point of fact amounts to strike breaking by various government departments."

Sons' Committed

NELSON—Six Sons of Freedom charged in connection with terrorist activities in West Kootenay this year were committed to trial at a preliminary hearing before Stipendiary Magistrate Will Evans here Friday.

Mike E. Chernenkoff, Fred N. Davidoff, Paul J. Chernoff, John G. Babakoff, Fred F. Jmaeff and Leon A. Legoboff were committed.

Sadder But Wiser

LONDON (Reuters)—A British journalist who married a prostitute he interviewed during a vice inquiry was left a sadder and wiser reporter.

The journalist, 33-year-old Joseph Kerr, pleaded guilty Thursday to a charge of carrying a shotgun with intent to endanger life after his wife took up again with her old clients.

He was given a three-year suspended sentence.

Kerr told the court he met his wife, Virginia, in 1958 when he was investigating the effect of a new vice law on prostitutes for the now-defunct London Sunday Graphic.

He said he married her after she promised to lead a straightforward life.

Kerr said that his wife, after their marriage, asked him if she could continue her association with a former client, described only as a Mr. Marx, on the stipulation there was no sexual relationship.

Later she asked him if she might have another client in the house. By this time Mr. Marx was a lodger.

Kerr said he bought the shotgun to frighten his wife but it went off accidentally.

The judge sympathized with Kerr and said the tension resulting from Marx moving in "must have been almost intolerable."

99th Birthday Only Week Away

Archdeacon Francis Cole Cornish of 904 Falmouth will celebrate his 99th birthday on Dec. 9.

He retired to Victoria from Edmonton in 1939, and says he hopes to be here when he is a 100.

He is a teetotaller, but smokes three or four pipes a day.

Winners of the weekly tournament of the Victoria All-masters' Duplicate Bridge Club were: 1. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Duprau; 2. J. Goldie and R. Lipsey; 3. O. Leesment and A. Jorgensen; 4. P. Bishop and Anne Lewis; 5. Ethel Cleworth and Elizabeth Warren; 6. H. Parry and Q. Lewis.

VOTERS BEWARE THE TROJAN HORSE

- Mr. Bennett bought the entire B.C. Electric system including the money-losing bus service.
- Mr. Bennett must not be allowed to unload this costly bus service on the municipal taxpayers, as advocated by his M.L.A. candidates for Reeve of Saanich and Mayor of Victoria.
- Reject Soared candidates in Saanich, Victoria and Oak Bay who would do Mr. Bennett's bidding . . . Reject the Trojan Horse.

★ Remember . . . The Trojan Horse (not a real horse, either) was placed at the gates of Troy, in the guise of a gift. When the gullible Trojans took it into the city, soldiers hidden in the horse opened the gates and delivered the city to the invaders.

V.I. ROUNDUP

Accident Claims Second Victim

ALBERNI—An industrial accident Thursday on a B.C. Hydro power line clearing project claimed its second victim Friday with the death in West Coast General Hospital of Lawrence Sullivan, 19.

The youth suffered a fractured skull Thursday afternoon while working beside the Alberni-Tofino Road, 12 miles west of here, when a falling log struck him and his companion, Francis Kimberley, of Vancouver. Kimberley was killed instantly.

Sullivan was the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Sullivan, 602 Beaufort Street, Alberni.

GANGES—A referendum to determine whether residents are in favor of providing Salt Spring School with an auditorium-gymnasium will be put to ratepayers in Gulf Island School District 64.

Decision to hold a referendum followed a meeting where Principal J. M. Evans reported that Mahon Hall will be limited to 225 persons in the future.

He said the hall is structurally inadequate for heavy apparatus, too small for full school assemblies and organized team games, and without dressing rooms and showers.

Board chairman G. M. Heinekey was re-elected a trustee at Ganges, where Dr. Ted Jansch was chosen to replace J. G. Reid.

A. D. Dane was returned at Fulford and J. M. Campbell at Saturna Island.

W. H. Morson will replace L. Hawkins at Mayne Island. Other board members are G. S. Humphreys, C. W. Harrison, Mrs. F. L. Prior and Mrs. P. E. Barner.

DUNCAN—A petition signed by 900 residents was presented to the hospital board here requesting the present hospital building be kept for nursing and a boarding home for elderly people after the new hospital is opened.

The petition will be forwarded to the provincial government.

Construction of the new Duncan and district hospital, to cost more than $3,600,000 will start in the spring of 1963.

Meanwhile, hospital officials described the problem of overcrowding in the present hospital as serious, especially in the children's ward.

Occupancy at the hospital was more than 100 per cent during November, they said, and on numerous occasions elective surgery had to be postponed.

LAKE COWICHAN—Re-elected by acclamation as trustees on the school board in Lake Cowichan school district are Jean Carlson, Lake Cowichan; H. E. Hobson, Youbou; and E. N. Garnett, rural district.

They will serve two-year terms.

CAMPBELL RIVER—Local school children are learning to save through the Credit Union school savings plan.

More than 1,400 school children here belong to the savings program, and since 1955 have saved a total of $25,000.

CAMPBELL RIVER—The B.C. and Yukon division of the B.C. Cancer Society has agreed to pay part of the cost of the proposed Campbell River health centre, Rev. Canon T. D. Proctor, president of the local unit, has announced.

Sum of $3,850, seven per cent of the total cost of the proposed centre, has been allocated from the 1962 Conquer Cancer Campaign.

Instruments, Cash Stolen From School

Thieves Rifle Belmont High

Musical instruments, cash, and office equipment valued at about $2,000 were stolen from Belmont High School early Friday.

The thieves entered by jemmying a rear window, and made a systematic sweep through the building.

They made off with band instruments valued at $1,500. All but one of the seven instruments taken belonged to students.

"It took the students a lot of hard work to earn the money for those instruments," principal A. H. Stephenson said.

RECODER TAKEN

Also taken were a typewriter, a tape recorder, a movie projector and screen, an electric kettle and cash from various dispensers through the school.

A pay telephone was ripped from a wall.

Colwood RCMP think the thieves had had "some experience."

For instance they didn't use flashlights but burned paper torches from material at hand. Torches are seen less easily at a distance.

STATISTICS RUINED

"But the paper they used for the torches happened to be some important statistics," Mr. Stephenson said.

The school vice-principal had spent quite some time compiling them.

The break-in was discovered when school opened Friday morning.

Students who lost instruments in the raid had to borrow replacements Friday night for a concert in nearby Langford Elementary School.

MONTE ROBERTS

Our mutual friend who owns that nice little place about the middle of Page Four, Brian A. Tobin, and I appear to be going off on separate tangents together.

This is unfortunate, for usually B.A.T. and me get along real good, see eye to eye on such matters as digging funk holes in backyards, and avoiding gardening at all costs.

But right now, we are at odds, and possibly also ends, about the matter of volume.

I am going all around and about, greeting friends, acquaintances and strangers with a cheery "Vuh-Vuh-VOOM," my purpose being to promote membership in the organization devoted to equal rights for males, namely the Voice of Ordinary Man.

(No new members this week, but then, we haven't heard from mobile branch 151.)

Our mutual friend Brian A. Tobin, on the other hand, is going all around and about saying "Shhh," HIS purpose being to promote adherence to the principle of the Silent Sentennial.

Mr. Tobin's purpose and my purpose is each admirable and worthy of wide support.

But a certain amount of confusion arises when we encounter one another at the office.

Say I, in the loudest voice I can achieve: "Vuh-Vuh-VOOM."

Says Mr. Tobin: "Shhhh."

This would lead the innocent bystander to believe Mr. Tobin does not agree with the principles of Voice of Ordinary Man, namely equal rights for males.

On the contrary, it is a well-known fact Mr. Tobin would join VOOM like a shot, if his wife would let him.

The situation becomes even more confusing when our mutual friend opens the conversation with "Shhh," and I reply "Vuh-Vuh-VOOM."

This would imply I do not agree with the Silent Sentennial, while the fact of the matter is, I heartily endorse the earnest efforts of our leading citizens to keep Victoria's centenary a deep secret in the family skeleton closet.

Happily, I have a solution to the problem.

I am going to ask the members of Voice of Ordinary Man to change the name of the organization to Whisper of Oppressed Man.

Surely, for the sake of promoting the Silent Sentennial, it isn't too much to go from VOOM to WOOM?

Saanich Woman Left Estate of $651,533

Mrs. Margaret Livingstone Robert, who lived at 2670 Queenswood, Saanich, left an estate valued at $651,533, it was disclosed Friday.

Major part of the estate goes to her husband, Col. Vivian Godwin Robert, who left here for Switzerland about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Robert—heiress of British Columbia's first lumber fortune—was on a trip to Lausanne, Switzerland, when she died there last June 12.

She was the granddaughter of William Parson Sayward, who made a fortune from B.C. lumber in the middle of the last century. The community of Sayward, Vancouver Island, is named after him.

Her will, probated in New Westminster by Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson, specified that in the event of her husband predeceasing her the bulk of the estate would be used to found a children's home in Victoria.

Col. Robert is Mrs. Robert's second husband. Her first husband was Frank Forbes Wilson of Victoria, who died 20 years ago. She had one child by her first marriage, a son who died at the age of 12.

She married Col. Vivian Robert last year.

GOOD GOLFER

Mrs. Robert entertained generously at their spacious home at 2670 Queenswood, playing golf and made several world cruises.

The daughter of the last Joseph Austen Sayward and Mrs. Sayward, she lived for many years in a picturesquely home at 3125 Beach Drive, which was sold in 1940 to Hon. and Mrs. Robert W. Mayhew. Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew now reside at 3005 Rutland.

A friend said Col. Vivian Robert left here for Switzerland about two weeks ago. She did not know when he planned to return.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. What does the "K" mean that is seen after Mozart's works? C.P.B.

A. The "K" stands for Ludwig von Koechel (1800-1877) a botanist and mineralogist who undertook to classify the works of Mozart who hadn't his works "Opus-numbered."

He established the Koechel numeration (K.550, K.91, etc.). Alfred Einstein undertook a revision of this system in 1937.

Q. When signing Christmas cards which form is correct—Tom, Mary and family, or Mary, Tom and family? Or is it a matter of personal preference? S.I.

A. There is no rule governing this, though Emily Post suggests placing the man's name before the woman's when children are included.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," and the question and answer will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times reserves the right to edit or condense or legal problems. Not with it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Price Law Asked On Surplus Food

New Planning Suggested By Hamilton

Federal Agriculture Minister Alvin Hamilton Friday urged food-producing nations to apply a "rule of law" to all surplus foods destined for export.

He told the closing session of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture here that unless something is done to bring about the orderly marketing of surplus foods, "cut-throat competition" between nations will result.

He said prices of vital foods should be controlled in the same way as wheat.

Like wheat, he explained, there should be a minimum price for producers and a maximum price for consumers for all major foods. In between the two limits competition would be allowed.

BOTH PROTECTED

If this was carried out, he said, both the consumer and producer would be protected from the middleman and international competition limited to within reason.

He said at the present time there is so much surplus food

among some North Atlantic nations, including Japan, that

"we are becoming involved in give-away competitions."

Canada alone, he said, had given away this year $100,000,

000 worth of food. The United States had given away 10 times as much.

France, too, he said has a surplus of food.

"The trouble is that these giveaways are doing no one any good," he said.

DESTROYS INDUSTRY

He explained the dumping of food on other nations has the effect of destroying the agricultural industry of those countries.

The subsidizing of foods is also costly, he said, and usually leads to depressed producer prices at home.

He said there is a great need for agriculture planning on an international scale.

He said some form of international controls and long-range planning on food production would result in a larger volume of trade for all nations.

RAISE STANDARDS

It would also do much to raise the living standards of poorer nations who are mostly entirely dependent on agriculture.

Mr. Hamilton added that there is a danger of tariffs going up among western nations unless there is more co-operation between food producing countries.

"If a rat race develops," he warned, "tariffs will go up.

Surplus food is a serious problem."

The last recorded conversation between them (Oct.

26, 1960) went: "Blah blah."

Oh, they wanted to get together, but when Mr. Fulton came to Victoria last December the premier was visiting a sick friend and in church; when Mr. Fulton went to the government "bunker" at Nanaimo during a civil defense exercise, Mr. Bennett went in the other direction.

And what nasty words have been exchanged—still from a distance.

Even this week we have heard

"dishonorable," "disgraceful,"

"berserk," "juggernaut,"

"lust for power,"

"sellout," "reckless and improvident."

It can only lead to the belief that there is more than the interests of B.C. and Canada at stake; that there is, in fact, a deep personal bitterness.

This is hard to reconcile when it is remembered that

Tweedledum and Tweedledee were only 11 years ago members of the same party; pursuing the same philosophies;

Church Still Alive In Communist China

LONDON (Reuters) — The Church of England year book for 1962 says there is "good reason" to believe that Anglican traditions of worship are being maintained in Communist China. In a section devoted to the Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui (the Holy Catholic Church in China), the year book also says occasional visits to Communist China since 1955 have shown that "most of the bishops and church leaders are still actively guiding their people through a period of tremendous revolution and social reconstruction."

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

Children Start Practice

With the approach of the glad season, Sunday School children of Hope Lutheran Church, Princess and Chambers, will hold their first Christmas Eve practice in the church on Sunday at 2.30 p.m.

"These practices prepare the children to take an active lead in telling the Christmas story in recitation and song on Christmas Day," says Pastor L. M. Carlson.

"This is a yearly event to emphasize the importance of children in our church and to prepare them for their future role in the church."

Archbishop Harold Sexton

and Bishop William Hill, the Roman Catholic bishop of Victoria, will hold a unique meeting in Victoria High School next Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Purpose of their meeting will be to hear Dom Basil Butler, president of the English (R.C.) Benedictine Foundation and Abbot of Downside, England, who will speak on the Ecumenical Movement.

Writes Dean Brian Whitlow

in his Sunday message:

"There have recently been encouraging signs of a willingness and readiness to talk together between Anglicans and Roman Catholics, and this meeting is in line with such developments."

"Fear at Christmas" is the subject of Rev. Stanley F. Sears at First United Church at 9.30 Sunday morning.

Rev. A. I. Higgins will speak on "Where Loyalty is Fundamental" at the 11 a.m. service. At 7.30 p.m. he will talk on "Seventh Day Adventists—the third of a series on other church denominations."

Entertainment will be supplied by the Gosley troupe.

First United Church will hold its 14th annual "Carols in the Candlelight" presentation on Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m.

Admission will be by ticket from the church office or Western Music Co.

The new organ at Fairfield United Church will be dedicated at the morning service at 11.30 a.m.

Sunday evening from 7 to 7.30 Mrs. Faith Webster will give a recital of organ preludes.

The Vera Barclay Singers and Oak Bay United Church choir are giving a recital of sacred music in the church auditorium next Monday at 8.15 p.m. Proceeds will go to the church organ fund.

Victoria organist Reginald Stone and soprano Margaret Thomson Dean will give a concert in Knox Presbyterian Church, Richmond, on Wednesday, Dec. 13 at 7.30 p.m.

Addressing a session of the international congress of the fraternity of Christian Doctors, Bishop Emmett Doyle of British Columbia said:

"The Catholic Church has always desired and promoted the ecumenical unity movement."

More than 10,000 churchmen and laymen are attending the congress.

Bishop Doyle outlined aims of the Vatican church council—the first since 1870—which he said Pope John hopes to convene in December of 1962. He said the council will seek to rejuvenate the church as well as to promote unity.

"The rejuvenation of the church is not to be found in doctrine or in the laws of morality," the bishop said. "The church will not change its teaching about such matters as sacraments, papal infallibility, divorce or birth control."

"To rejuvenate means to make young again. It implies the modernization of the internal organization of the church."

Concerning moves toward church unity, Bishop Doyle said:

"On every hand there are many honest and sincere Protestant and Orthodox Christians who recognize the scandal of division among Christians. Their concern and their efforts for unity put to shame many indifferent and self-satisfied Catholics."

"He was a great pioneer in the last 12 years he has grown steadily in the affection and esteem of the parish."

"They have been happy years and we are deeply grateful for the many good friends we have here," Canon Greenhalgh said today.

"We join in loving congratulations to him and his dear wife on this happy occasion," said Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral, and Canon R. E. H. Howell added:

"He was a great pioneer in the diocese of Saskatchewan. We are proud of his ministry."

Canon and Mrs. Greenhalgh have five daughters and three sons, one of whom is Rev. G. H. Greenhalgh, rector of St. Paul's, Nanaimo, and a canon of the Chapter of Christ Church Cathedral.

A meeting of the Color Photographic Association of Canada, Capital City branch, will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at 322 Plaza Place. Topics will include indoor color and night photography.

AT CHURCH COUNCIL

Basic Concepts Under Scrutiny

NEW DELHI (AP)—Christians were looking backward today in search of new beginnings.

Basic and age-old church concepts were being questioned as new as representatives of many denominations sought approaches to closer unity in faith and function.

The wide open examination of doctrinal and operational positions came as the general assembly of the World Council of Churches went into its decisive phase in this Indian capital.

Competitive classes include mantels, miniature trees, large and small tables, doors, novelties and gift-wrapped parcels and the very popular class for high school students. (Photos by Bill Halkett.)

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ross Chapman, who were married in the Immaculate Conception Church in Kelowna, will make their home in Port Alberni. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hoffman of Kelowna and Mrs. Rebecca Chapman of Victoria. (Photo by Paul Ponich Studios, Kelowna.)

Another popular event next week will be the Christmas Aisle sale, arranged by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the YM-YWCA in the foyer of the YMCA, Bianshard Street at View, next Thursday, commencing at 11 a.m. A specialty of the sale will be attractive make-up capes and matching boudoir caps, modelled here by Miss Susan McMicking. There will also be tables of artist's smocks for children, puppet aprons, cosy slippers, Christmas cakes, cookies, mincemeat and Colonel Blimp chutney. Coffee will be served.

Festival Of Christmas Decorations

Sponsored By Women's Auxiliary to Family and Children's Service

Wednesday, From 12 Noon to 9.30 P.M.
In the Georgian Lounge at the Empress Hotel

One of the first events of the festive season will take place on December 6 in the Empress Hotel when the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service presents its eighth annual Festival of Christmas Decorations.

This popular presentation, featuring the artistic talent of Victorians of all ages, draws crowds of visitors interested in that "something different" for the Yuletide.

The festival will open at 12 noon and continue until 9.30 p.m. All entries will be judged and winners in the various classes will be announced in the evening. Mrs. George R. Pearkes, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia has graciously consented to present silver cups, rose bowls and prizes to first and second winners in each classification.

General convener is Mrs. Ruth Reeve and the co-convener, Mrs. Ken Young. Adult entries are in charge of Mrs. Gordon Hunter, EV 6-2638; student entries, Mrs. A. Cooper; raffles, Mrs. D. Huben and Mrs. M. L. Hibbertson; gift table, Mrs. R. R. Wilde; tickets, Mrs. Conway Parrott and publicity Mrs. N. McDiarmid.

Proceeds will be used to assist in work of the Family and Children's Service in foster home care, homes for emotionally disturbed children, layettes for babies and assistance for wards of the service.

Miss Bonita Teresa Noble and Mr. Gordon Stanley Howard were married in St. Aidan's Church in late October. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Noble of Victoria and Mr. Eric S. Howard, New Westminster. (Photo by Chevrons Studio.)

Pinafores Appeal to Pint-Sized 'Pin-Ups'

Excitement is mounting in the world of the little people

Eyes are shiny and bright. Small chores are attended to with greater alacrity than is usual, as the day of Santa's visit nears.

Christmas holidays are sure to include a child's party or two so it's the perfect time for a new frock. From two years to teen-age, little girls adore a pretty new dress.

High fashion item for pint-size dresses this season is addition of a pinafore, tunic or chic little sandwich-board popovers.

For the youngest party-goer, the two-year-old, there is an adorable pink polished cotton dress with puffy sleeves and puffy skirt and over this is a dainty organza pinafore with Swiss embroidery.

Most appealing pinafore of all may be bought separately and is white cotton with lovely eyelet embroidery at the neckline and at the shoulder frill edge.

The three-year-old would

SHOPPING GUIDE

Beat the Parking Meters With New Timer Key Chain

By PENNY SAVER

Dear Sis:

Most people have good and bad habits and I'm afraid I boast a dandy bad one... over parking. As well as being bad, it's also expensive and I've wondered for a long time what I could do to remedy it, short of carrying an alarm clock around with me. That, I'm afraid, would be just a little bulky.

Today, luck was really on my side when I happened into one store. There, before my eyes, was one of the smartest little gadgets I've seen in a long, long time. A memo park key ring.

About the size of a silver dollar, it's made of white, black or red plastic with metal outer edge and St. Christopher in the centre. It works along the same lines as a kitchen timer, you twist the knob in the centre to the number of minutes you have on the meter, drop it in your pocket or purse and forget it. When your time is up the alarm goes off and you're saved. The timer can be set for as long as an hour and is only $3.95.

Two-hour timers are triangular shaped, in black, yellow and pale blue and sell for $4.95. They would make wonderful gifts for friends who are in parking meter areas nearly every day.

That husband of yours is on the road quite a bit now and, since he likes to have his deck of cards with him to while away the time, I imagine he'd really go for the portable cribbage set I saw. Selling for $5.95 it has a light colored, all English leather snap-shut case, deck of cards, folding leather cribbage board and four plastic pegs. Just the right size to stick in his pocket. I doubt he'd be without it very often.

You've been in a jam where you light a cigarette, get a good length of ash teetering on the end and find that there isn't an ashtray in sight. What to do in a situation like that? Well, Sis, you'd be wise to invest in a silent butler. They're little metal boxes—or portable ashtrays—for carrying in your handbag. Made in gold tone, the one I saw measures three inches by one inch and is decorated with an imitation cigarette on the outside. Inside there is a lip for holding your cigarette. Sound like a cute little gift for someone... and only $2.

You can't wait to find out where I shopped today? Give me a call... I'd surely like to hear from you.

Penny, EV 2-3131.

Honored Guest

Mrs. Warren Sweeny, the former Miss Diane Kerr was honored recently at a shower given by Mrs. A. Lacy and Mrs. J. Viggers in the Quadra Street home of the latter. Gifts were arranged beneath a shower of ribbons pouring from a decorated watering can. Guest of honor and her mother-in-law, Mrs. F. Sweeny, received ribbon corsages. Invited guests included Mrs. I. Barr, Mrs. F. Jancowski, Mrs. A. Main, Mrs. H. Cooley, Mrs. G. Parson, Mrs. G. Cooley, Mrs. E. Smith, Mrs. E. Tangas and the Misses Janet Kep, Cathy Tranter, Bowes, Liz Anglin, Charlene Lacy and Anna Liza Tangas.

Adopt a Brother

"The loneliest little boy in the world" will have a happy Christmas this year. An abandoned and destitute child, he has found health and happiness in a children's home sponsored by the Unitarian Service Committee in Hong Kong. The six-year-old boy was adopted by three little girls in a Calgary family who wanted a brother. A special Christmas package is now on its way to Hong Kong with a box of fudge made by his youngest sister, age five. USC headquarters is at 78 Sparks Street, Ottawa.

look adorable in a paisley mauve terylene and cotton frock with pleated organdy neck trim. Two large self bows give a bustle back effect.

Another young miss might like a white and red dotted swiss with neckline inset and tiny sleeves of finely ruffled lace. A huge butterfly bow gives a perky look to the back. The six-year-old, wise to the thought that spring follows quickly after Christmas, would get double-duty out of a daffodil yellow nylon dress with side panniers outlined in embroidered white flowers.

A little red velvet party dress always brings the vision of Christmas to my mind and there are red velvets for all ages, and for the baby-set there are even fine corduroy pinafores and panties with candy cane braid trim.

Shades of the trapeze line is seen in a wee red velvet jumper over an organdy puffed-sleeved dress.

Little boys may also join the Christmas red scene in a Buster suit of red velveteen with white silk blouse.

A darling gift item for a fashion-conscious young lady would be a white bunny with muff and collar set... very grown-up looking!

Roses Grown in Channel Islands Are Gift to Victoria Traveller

By PAT DUFOUR

Two dozen of the most trailing roses in Canada arrived by air in Victoria Thursday evening. Grown in the Guernsey Island greenhouse of Frank Martell, they were given to Miss Shannon Rabey when she left the Channel Islands on Wednesday after an eight-month holiday overseas.

Making her headquarters at the home of her uncle and aunt, Deputy and Mrs. F. C. Le Page, Shannon found that life in the 23-square-mile island was "like something out of the history books."

In the well-populated island every family is related in some way and she had the time of her life visiting her many "relatives".

"My uncle and aunt's mothers lived next door and they were 88 and 82. My granddad's sister is 95 and still has 'all her buttons'. She'd soon tell you if you arrived with as much as a thread out of place."

Although tomato growing is the main industry, many of the women run boarding houses to cope with the growing tourist industry from England and continental Europe.

Shannon's uncle being a deputy in the States (local parliament), she attended one of the sessions and was impressed by the way the islanders kept to the old ways.

"They're French by origin and the opening speech was French. Many of the farmers still speak the old language although they were always polite and talked to me in English."

She admits to getting a little tired of being referred to as coming from America . . . or from Vancouver.

"Even when they realized I was from Canada and not the United States they still couldn't remember Victoria. In the end I gave up correcting them."

She made several visits to the neighboring islands of Sark, "where time stands still," and to Jersey.

"We arrived at the Sark jetty to see horse carriages lined up and we rattled away up steep slopes to our destinations.

FLOWER "BATTLE"

There were all kinds of beautiful floats — artistically decorated with real flowers. They won't allow a single artificial one to be used. At the end of the parade the "battle" begins and people have all sorts of fun pelting each other with flowers from the floats until the "cease fire" is sounded.

In early May the whole island turns out, the men in dress uniform and women in formal, to attend the Liberation Ball at the Royal Hotel that marks the day the Germans left their shores.

In between sharing the close-knit life of the islands, Shannon and a friend, Miss Waveney Mollet, toured England, Scotland, France, Switzerland and parts of Germany.

In her tight-packed cases are Swiss music boxes, tartans and Fair Isle sweaters to remind her of her "dream trip."

MISSÉD MOUNTAINS

If there was one thing she missed it was the sight of mountains. "Loch Lomond looked wonderful to me—it reminded me of home and there was a view near Lausanne in Switzerland that had me thinking I was back on the Malabar."

Fog and high easterly winds help isolate the Channel Islands in winter months when boats from England and between the islands are restricted to three a week.

"But," says Shannon, "the people make their own fun and visit around a great deal."

Long after the petals have fallen from her roses, the warmth of the welcome she received will remind Shannon of the months she "turned back the clock" in the Channel Islands.

DEAR ABBY . . .

She Has 'Child-Mares!'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am positively going out of my mind over a situation that has developed at my place of work. A woman who works with me constantly brags about her children. Abby, no matter what the topic of conversation is, she turns it back to her children. Their honors, their brilliance, their popularity, their superiority!!!

It is affecting my work. Other people in the office feel the same way about her, but no one wants to tell her what a bore she is for fear of hurting her feelings. Is there a solution?

FED UP HERE.

DEAR FED UP: You can (1) avoid her as much as possible. (2) Level with her in a "friendly" way by telling her that she is overdoing the "commercials" on her children and, unless she wants to be entirely without friends, she should cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: I gave my boy friend a big colored picture of myself for Christmas last year. Now we have broken up and I would like to have my picture back. Would it be all right for me to write to him and ask him to send it back? He has no use for it. He lives 150 miles away.

JUDI.

DEAR JUDI: It was more than a "picture" — it was a Christmas present. Let him keep it.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a small town and my problem is becoming so serious I think I will not have any peace of mind unless we move. We have four children (I will not mention their ages, but they are now in school). There are four other children in the same school who look so much like my children that the teachers and students are forever getting them mixed up. Two of these children (not mine) were "adopted" and the other two are children of two families with whom my husband and I have had friendships of long standing.

People laugh and joke and gossip about this "coincidence." My husband laughs, too. But to tell you the truth, Miss Van Buren, I can't hold up my head any more.

IN DOUBT.

DEAR IN DOUBT: I don't know what your husband does for a living, but whatever he does, he can do it in another town. Ask him to quit laughing and start thinking about relocating.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

HOW TO MAKE A "BIAS" SKIRT

Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"The style this year seems to be the 'bias' skirt, and my question is how to keep the side seams from appearing drawn? Would I line this fine wool I intend to use, and would the lining be cut on the bias also?" — Mrs. J.S.

Dear Mrs. J.S.:

There are always problems that arise when using the "bias" for any part of a garment. In cutting your garment, you must carefully watch the "lengthwise grain markings," or else the seams that are to be cut on the bias will not be cut properly. Yes, the lining can also be cut on the bias. You may use a soft lining, or again a rather stiff one, depending on your fabric and also the fashion styling of your garment.

Probably the best tip I can give you, is not to "stay stitch" and "bias" edge. If you are under-lining your skirt, be sure the two layers of fabric are basted together smoothly. When stitching any bias seam (this also applies to raglan sleeves), you must stretch the seamline slightly as you machine stitch. In this way you will give your seam the same elasticity the fabric has on the cut edge. If you ease this seam or stay-stitch first, it will look pulled and drawn, and the seams will "pop" with the least amount of strain.

Be sure to allow your skirt to hang on a hanger for several days before you have the hem marked.

BEHIND THE BY-LINE

If you'd like to raise your child to be the head of the culture department of a newspaper, you could do worse than follow the example set by Audrey Johnson, who keeps a perceptive eye on music, art and drama for Times readers.

Audrey started studying music at the age of five, majoring in piano but devoting time and talent to vocal and violin studies, and burning the midnight oil on theory and history of music.

She is a diploma graduate of the Royal Schools of Music, meaning she knows of which she hears, and can use the letters LRSM after her name.

Pursuing an avocation which was to become her vocation, she studied art for three years, drama at UBC, at Banff and University of Washington.

She must have learned something, because for the past 10 years she has been adjudicator of drama for British Columbia. A play she directed in 1950 won the regional award of the Dominion Drama Festival, and her production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at Christ Church Cathedral in 1959 was warmly received by capacity audiences.

Audrey has also taught Victoria School Board drama classes, directed plays and opera, published poetry, written successful CBC radio plays, sold articles to various magazines.

She's happiest writing for The Times and directing stage productions because—in her words—"In either activity every form of artistic expression in which I have indulged finds its culmination."

Times readers are happy Audrey Johnson finds happiness in bringing honest, well-founded appraisal of the arts to these pages.

PROSECUTORS FEAR MORE

Gangster-Style Deaths Mark U.S. Drug Case

NEW YORK (CP)—Violent deaths, like those of the prohibition era, have befallen two defendants in a multi-million-dollar narcotics smuggling case, now before a federal court here.

Another defendant tried to commit suicide by hanging.

Prosecutors in the case, which began early in November, fear more deaths. On two occasions they have asked to have the remaining 11 defendants taken into court custody for their own protection. Both requests were denied.

The U.S. government says the case involves $150,000,000 worth of heroin smuggled into the U.S. by Italian immigrants used as pawns by an international narcotics ring.

USE IMMIGRANTS

Prosecutors say the smuggling was carried out in this manner:

Italian immigrants preparing to come to the U.S. by boat would be asked to bring the luggage for another group of fictitious immigrants flying to the U.S. When they agreed they were given luggage with false bottoms and other secret compartments filled with heroin.

The two slain in gangster style were Albert Agueci, 39, of Toronto, a naturalized Canadian, and Willard Holmes, 38, a Negro who lived in a fashionable section of Teaneck, N.J.

The charred body of Agueci, listed by the U.S. government as a top-level man in the organization, was found in a field near Rochester, N.Y., on Nov. 23.

His hands were bound behind his back with wire. He had been strangled with a plastic clothesline. His body had then been doused with gasol'ne and set afire. He was identified by fingerprints.

READY TO SQUEAL?

The body of Holmes, battered and bullet-ridden, was found Aug. 9 on a Bronx Street. The government has said Holmes was killed after he indicated that he was ready to talk.

On Oct. 9 another defendant, Arnold Barbato, 39, tried to hang himself in his Bronx home. A psychiatric examination showed that Barbato was not competent to stand trial.

Credit for breaking the case has been given to sharp-eyed law officers in suburban Westchester County. In 1959 they noted certain big-time bettors were hitting the parimutuel windows at Yonkers Raceway with big bets.

Later arrests resulted in seizure of $3,000,000 in heroin.

FORFEIT BAIL

Three described as "prime movers" in the organization failed to appear in court last September and their bail totaling $110,000 was forfeited.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF CONRAD WILFRED JOSEPH SEGUN, deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that creditors and others having claims against the estate of Conrad Wilfred Joseph Seguin, deceased, late of Victoria, British Columbia, are required to send them to the undersigned, Solicitors for the estate, to be paid or otherwise disposed of, before the 2nd day of January, A.D. 1962, after which date the creditors will distribute their claims among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they then shall have notice.

The 11 still on trial in addition to Agueci include Rocco Scopellitti, 26, of Toronto.

Despite the involvement of Toronto residents, it has not been brought out yet whether any of the narcotics was smuggled into the U.S. by way of Canada.

No Canadians have testified to date but it is expected that two RCMP officers will be called to the stand as prosecution witnesses.

The first mounted horse races of which there is record were run at Olympia in Greece on Dec. 2, 1961.

AIR SEARCH LAUNCHED FOR UN CONGO PLANE

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The United Nations today announced a 14-plane air search for a missing Swedish Transair charter plane overdue at Luluabourg Airport since Friday.

The UN-charter C-46 aircraft carried three Swedish crew members and one passenger, a Swedish major.

Missing UN Officer Captive in Katanga

E. L. ABETHVILLE (Reuters) — Latest reports indicate an Indian major missing for nearly four days is alive and being held near here, a United Nations spokesman said today.

George Ivan Smith, acting chief UN representative in this Katanga province capital, said a reliable source had given the UN information on Maj. Arjeet Singh, missing since Tuesday.

The search for Maj. Singh, serving with the Indian UN detachment, began when his Indian driver was found dead Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, tension lessened in Elisabethville. More people appeared in streets and bars and UN troop movements were back to normal.

However, UN sources said UN troops have been told not to go into the city at night unless they travel armed and in groups of four.

SPACE HOP PREDICTED FOR DEC. 20

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rep. Victor L. Anfuso, a ranking member of the House committee on science and aeronautics, predicted today the United States will try to orbit a man around the earth on Dec. 20.

The New York Democrat made the prediction on a local television program (CBS-New York Forum) taped Thursday for broadcast today.

Anfuso said his information was based on preliminary results of the orbital trip made by Enos the chimp last Wednesday.

FOR BERLIN

Reds Reject Kennedy Plan

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany today published a rejection of President Kennedy's suggestion for an international administration of the 110-mile highway lifeline between this city and the West.

The rejection came from East Germany's top spokesman, Walter Ulbricht, chief of state and Communist party leader, who spoke Friday night at a party district meeting in East Berlin.

An account of what he said was carried today by ADN, official East German news agency.

In his interview with Alexei Adzhubel, editor of the Soviet paper Izvestia, Kennedy suggested a key point in any future negotiations with the autobahn to guarantee free movement of goods and persons.

The autobahn between West Germany and Berlin belongs to East Germany, said Ulbricht.

If the Western powers thought they could prepare international control by sending U.S. troops on training missions along the highway, "our answer is clear," said Ulbricht.

MONTE ROBERTS

Our mutual friend who owns that nice little place about the middle of Page Four, Brian A. Tobin, and I, appear to be going off on separate tangents together.

This is unfortunate, for usually B.A.T. and I get along real good, see eye to eye on such matters as digging fun holes in backyards, and avoiding gardening at all costs.

But right now, we are at odds, and possibly also ends, about the matter of volume.

I am going all around and about, greeting friends, acquaintances and strangers with a cheery "Vuh-Vuh-VOOM," my purpose being to promote membership in the organization devoted to equal rights for males, namely the Voice of Ordinary Man.

(No new members this week, but then, we haven't heard from mobile branch 151.)

Our mutual friend Brian A. Tobin, on the other hand, is going all around and about saying "Shhh." HIS purpose being to promote adherence to the principle of the Silent Sentennial.

Mr. Tobin's purpose and my purpose is each admirable and worthy of wide support.

But a certain amount of confusion arises when we encounter one another at the office.

Say I, in the loudest voice I can achieve: "Vuh-Vuh-VOOM."

Says Mr. Tobin: "Shhhh."

This would lead the innocent bystander to believe Mr. Tobin does not agree with the principles of Voice of Ordinary Man, namely equal rights for males.

On the contrary, it is a well-known fact Mr. Tobin would JOIN VOOM like a shot, if his wife would let him.

The situation becomes even more confusing when our mutual friend opens the conversation with "Shhh," and I reply "Vuh-Vuh-VOOM."

This would imply I do not agree with the Silent Sentennial, while the fact of the matter is, I heartily endorse the earnest efforts of our leading citizens to keep Victoria's centenary a deep secret in the family skeleton closet.

Happily, I have a solution to the problem.

I am going to ask the members of Voice of Ordinary Man to change the name of the organization to Whisper of Oppressed Man.

Surely, for the sake of promoting the Silent Sentennial, it isn't too much to go from VOOM to WOOM?

Douglas Rotary Club: Hotel Royal House, 6 p.m. Visit from Jack Cruise.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Victoria Aged Pensioners No. 3 will hold its monthly meeting in the Britannia Hall on Blanshard Street Tuesday at 2 p.m.

They are guests of Cedar Hill Golf Club every Friday.

A lecture and demonstration of portrait painting will be given by artist Gary Ness at a meeting of the Saanich Peninsula Arts Centre Monday at 8 p.m. in the Sidney Hotel.

Saanich welfare official Frank Breakwell will address a meeting of the Gordon Head Elementary School PTA Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

The Old Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street.

Alan House, 1144 Yates Street, was charged in city police court this morning with theft Friday night of a car. Magistrate J. A. Byers remanded the case to Monday for election.

The Old Age Pensioners' Association No. 1 will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Knights of Pythias Hall, Cormorant Street.

John Manning is a former Victoria student who is now a student at National Taiwan University in Taiwan (Formosa). Times readers will recall that three years ago John worked for the paper and wrote a series of articles of his adventures, culminating with several slide lectures on his return. He now writes of his Taiwan experiences.

There was a thunderous knock on the door followed by someone speaking in Chinese. The voice came through the door like a file. We all looked as Hsieh answered it, muttering with disgust at having his calculus interrupted.

An old man with shaven head wearing a black smock with no elbows stood outside, grinning evilly towards the rest of us at work on our studies, carrying a black pot on the end of a bamboo pole.

Negligence Charge Faces Driver

A 23-year-old man appeared in city police court today on a charge of criminally negligent driving.

Leslie Charles Jones, 2711 Jacklin, in Langford, was remanded without plea to Monday by Deputy Magistrate J. A. Byers.

Ball was set at $250.

Jones was arrested early this morning after police chased two cars on north Douglas.

According to police reports, one car stopped but the other turned right on Cloverdale and then swung north on Quadra.

At this stage the city police car requested help from Saanich police.

The fleeing car overtook another vehicle near Union Rd., nearly colliding with it, as it went round a corner and crashed into a B.C. Telephone pole at Quadra and San Marino.

The impact turned the car over on its roof, police said.

Police said two occupants, Thomas McKenzie, 20, and John McKenzie, 18, of 3833 Saanich, were detained in hospital for observation, the former in St. Joseph's Hospital and the latter in Royal Jubilee.

The younger boy, taken to hospital by Oak Bay police, is reported to have head injuries.

Another occupant, William Bernard Nickells, RR2, was released from hospital after treatment.

How much for a dog you catch?" Liao asked of the peddler.

"It's not bad," Reaching into his back pocket, the old man pulled out a long chopstick.

Manning began stirring the stew while steam rose out of the pot, curling around his gnarled fingers like incense smoke. For three cents each he filled our rice bowls to the brim with his brew. The meat was sharp in taste but tender and not unlike venison.

"How big was the dog?" I asked him in halting Mandarin.

The Chinese spat once again before answering but he spoke too quickly, for me to understand and Hsieh had to translate: "He says the dog was around 12 pounds, just the right size." He says if we want he can cook one for us but we have to catch our own dog, otherwise the price is higher.

"How much for a dog you catch?" Liao asked of the peddler.

"More trouble to catch dog," he replied, wiping the chop stick off on his pants. "I catch special fat dog in country for you. Taipei dogs too thin. Country dogs cost maybe five

Sod-Turning Set for New Campus

Sod turning ceremonies marking the beginning of construction on Victoria College's Gordon Head campus will be held Jan. 20, it was announced today by a committee of faculty, administration, and students of the college.

"This occasion will mark both a beginning and a result," said Floyd Faircough, development manager for the college, "and we hope to see as many of the general public in attendance as we can."

"It is the result of two years' effort from the public of Victoria and from the college, the result of a year's planning by architects and designers."

"In addition, it is the beginning of a new era in the history of the college, and opens the way to new construction and development."

The brief ceremony will take place near the site of the new student union building on the east side of Finnerty Road, and will be followed by a reception in the college's Gordon Head gymnasium.

There will be a number of displays in the gymnasium demonstrating the work of various departments of the college, one showing the extra-curricular work of students, and another depicting the proposed development of the Gordon Head campus.

Second Mishap for Boy in Same Spot

A five-year-old Oak Bay boy was run over by a car at Foul Bay and Oak Bay at 2 p.m. today—three months after he was struck by a car in almost exactly the same spot.

Gordon Gillis, 1056 Foul Bay, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital with undetermined shoulder and internal injuries.

Oak Bay police said one of the wheels ran over his chest.

On the previous occasion a car struck Gordon as he walked along the sidewalk near the same intersection.

Reds Call for Berlin as 'Free City'

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka said tonight Russia and other Communist countries found "acceptable" President Kennedy's proposal to deal first with Berlin in East-West negotiations.

Addressing a miners' rally in the Silesian coal belt city of Katowice, Gomulka called for a "free" city of West Berlin and said this would mean guaranteeing Western access rights to West Berlin "and even the maintenance of token military forces there."

Douglas Flays Fulton in Speech

VANCOUVER (CP)—Justice Minister Fulton was using U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall as a club to beat down Premier Bennett of B.C. when he criticized Udall in a speech this week, says New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas.

"He (Fulton) was acting like a child, and like a child he should have to apologize," said Mr. Douglas in an interview. "He's just making it awkward for all of us."

UN Troops Kill Katangans in Battle

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Several Katangan police were reportedly killed here tonight when Indian United Nations troops and police exchanged shots at Elisabethville airport.

An Indian officer said the trouble broke out when a UN sentry moved to protect a Negro woman being molested by a drunken policeman.

Katanga Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba told a press conference later that, according to three policemen who escaped, the Katangans suffered "several dead and injured."

102,000 See Navy Whip West Point

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Bill Ulrich, an unheralded 19-year-old sophomore from Coopersburg, Pa., raced around end for 13 yards and third-period touchdown today to bring Navy from behind to a 13-7 victory over Army before 102,000 at Philadelphia Stadium.

Reds Reject Kennedy Plan

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany today published a reaction of President Kennedy's suggestion for an international administration of the 110-mile highway lifeline between this city and the West.

The rejection came from East Germany's top spokesman—Walter Ulbricht, chief of state and Communist party leader, who spoke Friday night at a party district meeting in East Berlin.

An account of what he said was carried today by ADN, official East German news agency.

CHILDREN OF INDIA

Goodwill for Dollars

One of the most important intangible results of the Times Children of India Fund and similar drives across Canada is goodwill.

Children who receive milk, food, medicine and clothing through your dollars cannot possibly return value for value.

But Canadians are amply rewarded since the word Canada is becoming a symbol of people who stretched out a hand when help was needed.

SPACE HOP PREDICTED FOR DEC. 20

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rep. Victor L. Anfuso, a ranking member of the House committee on science and aeronautics, predicted today the United States will try to orbit a man around the earth on Dec. 20.

The New York Democrat made the prediction on a local television program (CBS-TV New York Forum) taped Thursday for broadcast today.

Anfuso said his information was based on preliminary results of the orbital trip made by Enos the chimp last Wednesday.

AIR SEARCH LAUNCHED FOR UN CONGO PLANE

LEOPOLDIVILLE (AP)—The United Nations today announced a 14-plane air search for a missing Swedish Transair charter plane en route to Luluabourg Airport since Friday.

The UN-charter C-46 aircraft carried three Swedish crew members and one passenger, a Swedish major.

Missing UN Officer Captive in Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Latest reports indicate an Indian major missing for nearly four days is alive and being held near here, a United Nations spokesman said today.

George Ivan Smith, acting chief UN representative in this Katanga province capital, said a reliable source had given the UN information on Maj. Arjeet Singh, missing since Tuesday.

The search for Maj. Singh, serving with the Indian UN detachment, began when his Indian driver was found dead Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, tension lessened in Elisabethville. More people appeared in streets and bars and UN troop movements were back to normal.

However, UN sources said UN troops have been told not to go into the city at night unless they travel armed and in groups of four.

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Columbia River controversy has raised new possibility of an eventual summit conference between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Diefenbaker if all other measures fail.

Informants said Friday a proposal developed among the lower echelons of the U.S. administration, is gaining state department support as a "measure of last resort." The idea is that Kennedy would invite Diefenbaker to a meeting on general economic issues, including the Columbia.

LAST RESORT

The implication of the "measure of last resort" informants said, is that U.S. diplomats would go along with the proposal if all other means of resolving the Columbia issue fail.

On the basis, they said, a recommendation is being considered for transmittal to the White House, with the expectation that a White House decision on it would be reached this month.

The White House is known to be reluctant to have Kennedy brought into the issue at this time, particularly after a Canadian cabinet minister has criticized one of Kennedy's own ministers. But the view among U.S. officials closely associated with the Columbia is that a Kennedy-Diefenbaker meeting may be necessary to get a final understanding as to whether Canada will ratify the Columbia River treaty.

Winnipeg struck for the winning touchdown immediately after the kickoff that opened the second overtime session. Ploen's ramble down the right sideline came on the fifth play after a 39-yard pass to end Ernie Pitt from Ploen.

That put the ball on the Hamilton 28. Hagberg plunged to the 17. James lost one and the next play—when Ploen couldn't find a receiver—broke away and left three Tiger-Cat would-be tacklers in his wake.

Fulton Says Bennett 'Raising Smokescreen'

By TOM GOULD
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Justice Minister Fulton said Friday that secret minutes of meetings held with B.C. shortly before the Columbia River treaty was signed show that B.C. never intended to use the treaty to sell its downstream benefit power for long periods.

Mr. Fulton, replying in a statement to Premier Bennett's Friday press conference remarks, said the premier has "raised another smokescreen."

Premier Bennett said the treaty provides for the sale of the downstream benefit power.

Said Mr. Fulton: "Another smokescreen—seemingly his favorite occupation—this time about a clause in the treaty that he has been careful not to make an issue before."

He said this clause was meant to provide for the B.C. net sell-out.

Premier Bennett knows MINUTES CLEAN

this is not so. The minutes of our meetings with B.C. shortly before the treaty was signed are quite clear. Then—and

DEMAND IGNORED

"If that were so, you can be sure the Americans wouldn't buy. The absurdity of the argument is self-evident, and needs no elaboration."

Premier Bennett has been caught with his hand in the cookie jar and he is now trying to slip out of the pantry."

The justice minister said he is "confident the people of B.C. got the message" that the Bennett proposal to "hand over to our competitors our chances of building industry in our province, can only mean one thing—a sell-out of B.C.'s future."

Mr. Fulton did not touch upon Premier Bennett's demand that Mr. Fulton apologize to U.S. Interior Secretary Stuart Udall.

RUSSIA, U.K. ASK LAOS TO OBSERVE CEASEFIRE

LONDON (AP)—Britain and the Soviet Union today joined in urging the three powers disputing control of Laos to ensure strict observance of their cease-fire agreement.

The Anglo-Soviet message apparently arose from concern here and in Moscow about the worsening military and political situation in divided Laos.

The message was signed by British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Two-Vote Majority Okays French Taxes

PARIS (Reuters)—The French government won a majority of just two votes—238 to 236—on an amendment for new taxes when the National Assembly adopted the 1962 budget shortly before dawn today.

The government feared difficulties over the new taxes and economy cuts it had introduced as an amendment into the budget bill—which was for a total of 77,700,000,000 francs ($15,540,000,000) on its second reading.

But in an all-night sitting the deputies approved the amendment with only minor changes. The budget now goes to the Senate for second reading.

The new taxes, to bring in 290,000,000 francs ($58,500,000), are needed, together with economy cuts, to pay increases in salaries to civil servants and in subsidies to the railroads and the Paris Public Transport Corporation to enable them to raise their wages.

Economy cuts of about 308,000,000 francs ($61,600,000) sought by the government were pruned by the assembly. It refused to sanction economy totals totalling 50,000,000 new francs ($10,800,000) in the cost of French forces stationed in West Africa and elsewhere.

Gaullist and right-wing deputies came to blows when Algeria estimates were discussed in the assembly Thursday.

The 1962 budget total shows an increase over the 1961 total of 72,300,000,000 francs $14,560,000,000.

Threat to Use Own Power Seen as Pressure by U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Political spokesmen today said the United States decision to study the possibilities of developing the vast Columbia River hydro project on its own is both "political pressure" and a warning.

Opposition Leader Strachan called the study a political move to "pressure" the federal government into giving in to Premier Bennett's demands for sale of Canada's downstream Columbia power benefits to the United States.

The New Democratic Party which Mr. Strachan heads, is against such sale.

In Victoria Attorney-General Bonner and Lands and Forests Minister Williston saw the move as a warning to British Columbia that it is in danger of losing its share of downstream power benefits; that there would be no 50-50 split of power as provided in the Columbia treaty if the U.S. goes it alone.

They were commenting on a statement by U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall at a Washington press conference Thursday that if Canada does not ratify the treaty soon, the U.S. government will have to ask Congress for authority to build alternative dams in the U.S. Pacific Northwest on a go-it-alone basis.

If Canada did not ratify the treaty, then "we've got to prepare for alternatives," Mr. Udall told reporters.

Mr. Strachan said "I consider this to be added pressure on the federal government; it's obvious that the U.S. wants to

The American position by the end of this decade will be serious," the attorney-general said.

Whether or not the Columbia development goes ahead in terms of the treaty, they're facing a major power requirement problem."

"Obviously the U.S. must be prepared," he added.

Mr. Williston said if Canada doesn't act soon, they'll have to develop other power—either alone or with the U.S. goes it alone.

POWER PAYS OFF

The tying touchdown by James was set up on Winnipeg ground power. The Bombers moved from their 31-yard line to the Hamilton one on plunges and end runs by James, Lewis and Hargrave and a 34-yard pass-and-run play from Ploen to Farrell Funston.

The pass came on second down with Bombers needing 25 yards for a first down.

James kicked two field goals in the third-quarter. His first came at 5:46 from 18 yards out and narrowed Hamilton's lead to 7-4. Ticats made it 14-4 on Goldston's touchdown, converted by Sutherlin, and James connected on a 28-yarder on the last play of the quarter to leave Winnipeg trailing 14-7.

Hamilton got down to the Winnipeg one-yard line in the final seconds of the first half but time ran out on them. The drive was set up when Bomber second-string quarterback Hal Ledyard fumbled and tackle John Barrow pounced on the loose ball at the Hamilton 43.

Tiger-Cats got down to the one in six plays and on the final play of the quarter Faloney fumbled the ball on a quarterback sneak on first down. He got it back at the one as the quarter ended.

Earlier in the second quarter Ledyard connected on a long pass to Lewis at the Hamilton five. He got down to the two-yard line but the play was nullified on an offside call against the Bombers.
